Address of the Grand Orator

Grand Master Eugene T. Jernigan presented United States Representative and Grand Orator Bob Etheridge who delivered the following address:

My Brothers:

Thank you, I am glad to be here with you today at the Two Hundred Nineteenth Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of North Carolina.

I am honored to be speaking to you today as your grand orator. I want to thank Grand Master Jernigan for appointing me grand orator this year.

Many years ago, when I first began my career as a public servant, I went to one of my friends and said to him that I was unaccustomed to speaking before large groups.

"How do I handle it?" I asked him.

"Bob," he said, "it is very simple. You stand up, say what you intend to say, then sit down."

I have tried to follow that advice over the years.

I admit that I have now done so much public speaking that I have avoided what happened to a brand new preacher the first time he faced a congregation. The young man was scared out of his wits as he faced the large congregation. He leaned on the lectern as he announced that his sermon topic would be, "Behold, I come."

At that point, his mind went absolutely blank. He could not remember a word of the sermon he had memorized over the last week.

He looked over the audience and repeated, a little louder and more forcefully: "Behold, I come."

His mind was still blank.

He leaned further toward the congregation and said ever more loudly: "Behold, I come."

At this point, the lectern gave way, and the young preacher fell into the lap of a huge matron in the first row.

He was terribly embarrassed and was beside himself in making his apologies to the woman.

"Oh," she said, "think nothing of it. After all, you warned me three times."

Well, let me be serious for a few minutes about Masonry.

Let me tell you about what being a Mason has meant to me. What I learned from my initiation and subsequent degrees was that being a good Mason is about being a better human being, about being a better man, about doing my bit to make the world a better place for me, my family, my community, and my nation. I have used that knowledge throughout my public career.

Being a Mason is about holding yourself to a higher standard and mindfully working to improve yourself every day. In athletics, they call it moving to the next level. That's what the people I have met in Masonry have done, moved to a higher level. It was this lesson that I gained as I sought, and continue to seek, more light in Masonry.

From the beginning of our modern lodges in Europe, Masons have incorporated the working tools of operative masonry to speculative tools to sharpen and perfect the hearts and minds of men. In my life, I have used examples set forth by great American Freemasons and the lessons of the working tools to work to better myself and our society.

Early in our foundation, thinkers from the Age of Enlightenment came together using operative lodges as a place to introduce men to the idea that self improvement is the key to being a better human. Knowledge is the key that enables a better life. The study of science, mathematics, geometry, history, and architecture would lead, these men knew, to a more complete life and an elevated ability to reason and rule, to test longstanding traditions of class and nobility, and to reshape the world with emphasis on freedom and opportunity.

Our American forefathers, many of who were Freemasons, used many of these ideas as they prepared the documents that would govern a new nation, conceived in the belief that all men are created equal before the law.

Masonry played an important role, as it does now, of bringing together men from all walks of life and with varied experiences to join together in brotherly love and affection in a setting that is a microcosm of what society should be. It has been so since our beginning.

George Washington sat in a lodge with innkeepers, shop owners, blacksmiths, and soldiers. Undoubtedly, he learned much from the experience. So did Benjamin Franklin. So did Franklin D. Roosevelt, the man who served as President four terms and led us out of the Great Depression and through World War II.

So did men like Will Rogers, Arnold Palmer, Harry Truman, John Wayne, Henry Ford, Davy Crockett, Thurgood Marshall, Roy Acuff, and Eddy Arnold.

Thirteen signers of the Constitution were Freemasons. So were fourteen presidents of the United States. They all knew they had found something good in Freemasonry.

One of the most fascinating aspects of our lodges is how so many men from all walks of life can sit down together to conduct business in harmony and friendship and call each other "Brother." It is this sense of democracy that led me to my blue lodge, Lodge No. 302 in Lillington. My fellowship with Masons and my alliance with them all over North Carolina has proven invaluable in my service as a county commissioner, as a member of the North Carolina General Assembly, as state schools superintendent of North Carolina, and as a member of the US Congress since 1996.

Early on, my interest was drawn to improving educational opportunities for children as a major focus of my life.

As the son of a tobacco tenant farmer who attended a rural 1-12 school and who never left North Carolina until he was on a school trip to Washington, I had a pretty clear idea that my education was inadequate and that the opportunities offered to my children had to improve dramatically if they were to compete in the technological world we are now facing.

My obligation to make this speech forced me to do some hard thinking about whether I have fulfilled the Masonic principle that "it is important to work to make the world a better place for all," I invite you to assess your own life in such a way.

I suppose that my life would best be judged against that Masonic principle as it relates to my support of public education — in Harnett County, in the General Assembly, as state superintendent, and now in Congress. It has not been an easy path.

I was elected to the Harnett County Commission at a time when our county had a bunch of rural high schools like the old Cleveland School from which I graduated. Consolidating those rural schools into larger ones that could offer our children more courses, a more challenging curriculum, and even a chance to field a football team was not a popular proposition.

But we did it. And right after that, I lost the only election I have ever lost in more than 31 years of public service. Two years later, with some of the new schools in place, enough people began to see the light and I was elected to the North Carolina General Assembly.

As I'm sure you have found in your assessment of your life, following Masonic principles is not always easy.

When I served in the General Assembly, it was apparent that North Carolina schools did not have the personnel they needed to compete with other schools in the nation. I was one of the sponsors of the Basic Education Plan that pumped millions of dollars into the schools, but it was a struggle to pass in the General Assembly.

The naysayers were loud and persistent. Every session of the General Assembly brought a new argument between “staying the course” and progress toward educating our students for the 21st Century.

But we persevered. Those Basic Education Plan funds improved our schools and made North Carolina more economically competitive.

Shortly after I became state superintendent, one of my staff members came in for a conference.

“I have some good news and some bad news,” he said. “Which do you want first?”

“Give me the bad news,” I said.

“I have just been told Princeton Testing Service is going release a press statement that North Carolina ranks dead last in the nation on the SAT, behind everyone, including South Carolina, Georgia, and the District of Columbia,” he said.

I asked, “Well, what in the world is the good news?”

“You can blame it on your predecessor, Dr. Phillips,” he said.

And I said to him, “No. We are going to fix it. We are going to admit we have a problem, and we are going to fix it.”

Over the next eight years, I called attention to North Carolina’s rank, rather than run from it. But, we changed the course of study. We made the curriculum more challenging. We required more courses for high school graduation. We began requiring algebra be taught to eighth graders.

And do you know what? North Carolina led the nation in gains on the SAT almost every year during those eight years. And today North Carolina is considered one of the top innovators in improvements in public education. Because of this, improvement some major corporations now call our state home. And North Carolina’s children are ready to compete in the world. I am proud of my decisions long ago to put education first, a decision those of us in Masonry can trace back to our roots in those early lodges during the Age of Enlightenment.

In Congress, I continue to advocate for reforms and new ideas to help our nation’s educational system. I have spent more than six years trying to get the federal government provide low interest bonds to help growing communities build some public schools in America. I believe that if we are building schools in Iraq and Afghanistan that we can build them in the United States.

But I will persevere. If we are to compete with the rest of the world, we must compete in the training we provide for our children. Like the founders of our early lodges, we must make sure that our next generation has the proper tools, that they know how to use them, and that they accept the responsibility to build a better world.

Again, it has been my honor to be here with you today and I thank you for this opportunity.

I am proud to call all of you my Brothers, and I thank God that He chose to place me on the same highway of life with you, and made us friends.

Respectfully,
Bob Etheridge, Grand Orator

Report of the Grand Historian

The following report of the Grand Historian was received and entered on the record.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

The ongoing editing and incorporation of North Carolina's past grand master's biographies onto the web site of this Grand Lodge will be accomplished by year's end. Of the 125 past grand masters of North Carolina, the life stories of only three have not been found in the archives in one form or another. These are P. W. Fanning (1844-46), Alfred Martin (1857-58) and Horace Munsen (1876-77). The grand historian will write these biographies, as far as is possible, so that a complete record of our illustrious leaders will be available on the Internet.

For some time now there has been a concern for the safety and maintenance of the archives of this Grand Lodge. I am happy to report that an agreement has been reached between the Grand Lodge and Mr. Tim West, curator of the University of North Carolina's Southern Historical Collection of manuscripts (SHC), housed at the Wilson Library in Chapel Hill. Under this agreement, the Grand Lodge will transfer two types of archival documents to the care of the SHC. The first will be the minute and ledger books of defunct lodges. Secondly, the annual reports and returns from subordinate lodges through the mid-1940s and other such material as may be deemed prudent. Included in the agreement is the codicil that gives active lodges the right to donate their own archival material to the SHC with the approval of the Grand Lodge. Once in the care of the SHC, the Masonic material will be inspected, sorted, cataloged, and stored in scientifically appropriate materials, and made available for scholarly research for the benefit of Masonry in North Carolina and the world. The official name for our collection will be "The North Carolina Masonic Archive." It is important to note that the Grand Lodge is giving, not lending, this material to the SHC. However, in the unlikely event that the collection is ever disbanded, there is a proviso in the agreement that the material will be returned to the Grand Lodge.

Finally, the cataloging and systematic shelving arrangement of the Grand Lodge's small but important collection of published Masonic works is ongoing. These works are available for scholarly research within the Grand Lodge building.

Respectfully submitted,
Michael W. Brantley, Grand Historian

Report of the Committee on Building and Grounds

The following report of the Committee on Building and Grounds was received and entered on the record.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

Nearly fifty years has passed since the Grand Lodge Office Building on Glenwood Avenue has been occupied. The building when completed the many fine materials used in its construction made it, at the time, the most expensive building per square-foot in Wake County.

We have tried to restore the building's splendor. To this end, we have refurbished several offices and the lobby over the last few years.

Over the last few years, the aging (50 years old) heating and air conditioning system has been increasingly expensive to maintain. Last fall, we contracted with the engineering firm of Bass, Kennedy, and Nixon to design a new HVAC system for us. The design was submitted and placed out on bid. Hockaday Heating and Air was the low bidder and received the contract. Asbestos was removed, and the new system was installed in mid-September, after four months with no heat or air. With the new system, the building will have better-controlled environment thanks to the new seven-zone system. The staff has endured a rough summer. The cost of this project totaled $138,000. We feel that the changes will immediately pay dividends with the reduced energy cost and improved humidity control.

In early March, an automobile accident on Glenwood Avenue sent a truck careening through the Grand Lodge sign at the front of the building. It was destroyed. We are working with the city of Raleigh sign ordinance to design a new sign to comply with city code.

Your Grand Lodge office building, previously in desperate need of renovation, is now in good repair. There is, though, work yet to be done to restore its former glory and value. We have undertaken major projects with careful planning and patience. There are costly projects yet to be undertaken. We hope to pursue them with continued careful planning and as funds become available. We need to start saving for these projects now.

The next major project with your building is to replace the glass. The building can be made more energy efficient by replacing the old single pane glass with thermal pane glass. We are currently studying ways to accomplish this in phases, stretching the costs over several years. We continue to study putting glass back into the rear of the building, returning the building to its original construction and architectural plan that once placed it a list of Raleigh's fifty best pieces of architecture.

Respectfully submitted,
E. Sean Honeycutt, Chairman

Report of the Committee on Fraternal Correspondence

The following report of the Lodge Service Commission was received and entered on the record. Action on each of the requests was voted on later in the session. The results are reported here.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

During the past year, formal requests for recognition have been received from three grand lodges. This grand lodge subscribes to the services of the Commission on Information for Recognition of the Conference of Grand Masters in North America to gather information and investigate whether the grand lodge in question satisfies the conditions of regularity. The Commission's guidelines or Standards for Recognition are as follows:

- Legitimacy of Origin
- Exclusive Territorial Jurisdiction, except by mutual consent and/or treaty
- Adherence to the Ancient Landmarks – specifically, a belief in God, the Volume of Sacred Law as an indispensable part of the furniture of the lodge, and the prohibition of the discussion of politics and religion.

The Commission on Recognition of the Conference of Grand Masters embarked on an extensive study to understand the situation and relationships with the Mexican grand lodges. It is estimated there are 130 grand lodges in Mexico. Of these, there appear to be only 30 state grand lodges and the York Grand Lodge that are considered to be practicing regular Masonry. These grand lodges are members of the confederation of Regular Grand Lodges of the Mexican United States. The grand lodges that are members of this confederation all have adopted a protocol for membership. All member grand lodges meet the standards adopted by the Conference of Grand Masters of North America.

Gran Logia Estado de Michoacan

We have received a request for recognition from Gran Logia Estado de Michoacan of the United Confederated State Grand Lodges of Mexico in the State of Michoacan, Mexico. This grand lodge meets the standards, which include the standards adopted by the Conference of Grand Masters for Recognition. It is the recommendation of this committee to approve recognition of this grand lodge.

The delegates approved the recognition.

Gran Logia Estado de Guerrero

We have received a request for recognition from Gran Logia Estado de Guerrero of the United Confederated State Grand Lodges of Mexico in the State of Guerrero, Mexico. This grand lodge meets the standards, which include the standards adopted by the Conference of Grand Masters for Recognition. It is the recommendation of this committee to approve recognition of this grand lodge.

The delegates approved the recognition.

Grand Lodge of Macedonia

The Grand Lodge of Macedonia was consecrated on September 30, 2005, in Skopje by the United Grand Lodge of England. The grand lodge was formed from Skopje Lodge No. 9721, Unity Lodge No. 9749, and White Plains Lodge No. 9765, which were consecrated by the United Grand Lodge of England in 2000, 2001, and 2002 respectively. This grand lodge is regular in its work, and meets the standards for recognition. It is the recommendation of this committee to approve recognition of this grand lodge.

Report of the Administrator Masonic and Eastern Star Home of North Carolina, Inc.

The following Report of the Administrator of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home, filed before the change in administration at MESH, was received, entered on the record, and referred to the Board of Directors of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home.

Brethren of the Grand Lodge:

I am pleased to bring this report to the Grand Lodge. The past year has been exciting and challenging. While we have continued to provide a wonderful home for our elder members and their eligible relatives, we have continued to think about the future.

Last year, I reported that the Masonic and Eastern Star Home (MESH) has always cared for more people than it could afford. This continues to be true and remains the mark of an excellent charity. However, the problem that confronts our charity today is that growth on a small portfolio, foundation gifts, and annual giving from fraternal members are not keeping pace with the increase in costs associated with caring for the elderly, particularly, health care costs.

For the immediate future, and in order to maintain our current obligations, our members must increase their contributions to MESH.

Despite a decade of program modifications and improvements, MESH has held the line on expenses. Over the past eleven years, annual per capita expenses have been held to less than a 3.5% increase. This was made possible, in large measure, by improving services, becoming certified for entitlement revenue, and attracting more income qualified residents.

In the last decade, MESH has undergone quite a makeover. We have become certified for Medicare and Medicaid programs. We have implemented a management information system from the ground up. We have moved from a cash-based to accrual-based accounting system. We have planned, developed, constructed, and opened a new 100-bed skilled nursing facility and a new Independent Living Village of 48 two-bedroom homes. We have modified the admission system from an archaic system to a more modern system. The directors of MESH have developed and implemented a system of policy formation.

Despite these Herculean efforts, the current problem is aggravated by the market economy, the increasing number of elderly in need of services, a reduction in the number of fraternal members, a rising cost of health care, and socio-economic concerns. As well, we have aging buildings that threaten to fall down around us.

MESH can only operate within the length of its cabletow. The average Mason in 2005 contributed $8.92, and the directors had to suspend admissions of those requiring subsidized services. We need a strategy in order to increase the length of our cabletow and serve those yet to come.

As reported last year, the Board of Directors took a bold step toward the future. The trustees of our Home believe that we can replace the older buildings with new state-of-the-space buildings to include private bathrooms and showers. Although the estimated $70 million cost will be financed, the business plan making this possible is akin to the plan that permitted expansion of our Independent Living Village without relying on our fraternal members' contributions.

The paradigm shifts from, "Someday I may have to live in a place like that" to "Someday, I want to live in a place like that."

The Depth of Our Service

MESH is more than just a retirement community; it is, in large measure, a tangible part of our obligation. At year-end 2005, we were serving 240 residents. These people are more than numbers, but a measurable part of our commitment to aid and assist our distressed brethren and their wives, mothers, mothers-in-law, sisters, daughters, and widows.

Summary and Conclusion

The Bible tells us that, "Where there is no vision the people perish."

In the last decade, the MESH Board of Directors has allowed MESH to pursue a new direction and vision. It has been quite an adventure; a rough and rugged road beset with trials, hardships, joy, and accomplishments.

MESH has a proud heritage and, only with your support, a promising future. MESH not only needs the immediate intervention of our members, we must also dare to respond to the many challenges that have heaped themselves upon us, our country, our economy, and our members.

Those responsible for your charity do not want to restrict charitable services; yet, we are required to protect the minimal reserves for current residents who must be subsidized. There is a need to expand charity, and we must find ways to improve efficiency, increase revenue, and be as effective as possible; even while daring to replace our aging facilities.

To that end, the Directors, in a special, called executive session on May 30, 2006, and in order to pursue efficiency and effectiveness, opted to employ an experienced management firm to oversee operations of our charity while pursuing the lofty expansion goal.

Grand Master Gene Jernigan, in his capacity as chairman of the Board of Directors, sent a letter to the residents and staff sharing his pride in the our growth over the last decade. He shared his opinion that the planned expansion will allow MESH to provide a wonderful home for more of our fraternal members than ever before, and, most importantly, this expansion will help strengthen our financial health, enabling us to care for those in need.

Grand Master Jernigan emphasized that success and stability would be ensured by hiring a management firm to oversee the Home's operations and that the firm's responsibility will be to help the Home operate more effectively and efficiently.

In view of that decision, this may be my last report to the Grand Lodge. Having been the administrator of this Masonic charity, I have tried to give 100% and wish I had more to give. I have come to know many of our fraternal members, residents, and employees as brethren, sisters, and friends. I wish to thank the employees and, particularly, the managers at MESH. Every employee must not only excel in their profession, they must have the capacity to love people, particularly the elderly. This, and the mystic tie of our fraternity, is what separates MESH from many other congregate care institutions.

I especially want to express my appreciation to Mrs. Kay Ellison, our administrative assistant. Her tenacity, professionalism, patience, and a desire for MESH to be all it can and should be have been sincerely appreciated. She, too, has been an advocate and champion for residents of MESH.

It is also with a deep sense of loyalty that I tell you of the MESH management team. Under the most trying pressure when this transition was announced, this group continued to plow a straight row and hold this home together. I have NEVER worked with a more capable group of leaders.

Under the leadership of our management team, every employee is an advocate and champion for the rights and lives of our residents.

Lastly, I would like to thank those residents at MESH who represent the bravest people in the world. Like the distance runner, we all slow down at the end of the race. Even though nearing the end of the race, many of those at MESH still give 100% — pursuing goals, having hope, looking for ways to contribute, and dreaming.

So, the attitude of the employees of MESH becomes my last thought in this Grand Lodge report:

“I have worked in your Home. You have not lived in my institution.”

Fraternally and respectfully submitted,
John A. Rose, Administrator/CEO

Report of the Committee on the Masonic and Eastern Star Home of North Carolina

The following report of the Committee on the Masonic and Eastern Star Home was received, entered on the record, and referred to the Board of Directors of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

The Masonic and Eastern Star Home (MESH) of North Carolina, Inc., is a licensed continuing care retirement community (CCRC) located in Greensboro, North Carolina. MESH offers a continuum of opportunities and services ranging from totally private, fully independent arrangements to assisted living to skilled nursing care — all on one campus. MESH has provided for eligible residents since 1913.

The Committee on Masonic and Eastern Star Home is charged to visit the home, examine the condition of the property; review its business management, and more. In completing these duties, the Committee found that the good news is that MESH continues to be one of the cleanest and nicest facilities of its kind anywhere. It is a facility that we can all be very proud of as Masons. It is carrying out Masonic principles every day. The challenge and concern however is the state of its financial management and the threat that relates to its operational success — in the immediate future, and in the long term.

The best summary of the financial concerns is found in the report to the Board of General Purposes presented at the June 23 meeting in Raleigh:

1. John Rose has been out of work with heart problems and should be returning to work next week. (We are pleased to report that as of mid-August, John's recovery has gone very well and he reports no ill effects.)
2. At the MESH Board Meeting in early May, it was confirmed that MESH had fallen below the Department of Insurance (DOI) reserve fund requirement by almost $270,000. This triggered a vigorous debate about what the Board needed to do as the DOI could seize the Assets of MESH to protect the resident's interests.
3. After further candid conversations with MESH's auditor and Banyan Services Management Company (who has been hired to help us do the expansion project) it was discovered that MESH probably could not sell their bonds in the open market for the expansion project because of the deficit spending at MESH. Both advisors said that if the Department of Insurance took control of the Home they would probably hire an outside management company to professionally run the Home.
4. The Grand Master called an emergency meeting of the Board of Directors of MESH in late May in Raleigh to address being out of compliance with the Department of Insurance reserve requirements and how to proceed forward.

5. The MESH Board voted unanimously to hire an outside management company to run MESH. The Grand Master appointed a committee of five, chaired by Bryant Webster to solicit proposals from professional CRC management companies. This committee also includes: Calvin Gaddy, William Hutchinson, Sue Frye, and Dan Rice. This committee was authorized by the MESH Board to investigate, negotiate with, and to contract with a management company to run MESH and with hopes that this could be accomplished by July 1.
6. It appears that this date will be delayed until August 1 because of the delay in getting back the proposals from the management companies. At this time, we have received proposals from four out of the five that we asked for. These are documents that are almost 100 pages long and very legalistic. The committee is reviewing these proposals and intends to narrow them down to two before we start direct extended talks.
7. It appears that we will be able to cut expenses and also raise our revenues significantly by using a management company.
8. The least number of residents served by any of the management companies that we have looked at is 10,000 and the largest currently serves 30,000 residents in 82 CCRCs. They all have the advantage of managing multiple homes. All have experience in turnaround programs for nonprofit retirement homes. What we found looking at their proposals is that many nonprofit retirement home facilities are outsourcing the management of their facilities in order to compete in a competitive environment.
9. The second challenge was to get MESH into compliance with the Department of Insurance reserve requirement. The MESH Board authorized Bryant Webster's committee to make a direct appeal to the OES Foundation, the OES Ruck Fund, and the NC Masonic Foundation for two million dollars to put in a MESH Board restricted fund to be used only as a Department of Insurance reserve fund. The meeting was called, and the members of all three foundations attended on June 13. An appeal was made, and the Ruck Fund and OES Foundation ultimately gave $517,500 and the remainder of $1,482,599 was given by the NC Masonic Foundation. This money will give MESH some immediate financial relief.
10. The first week of August, all of the final costs of building the expansion project will be made available to the MESH Board. At that point, the MESH Board will decide whether to go forward or to stop on the expansion. We definitely need our fraternity's smartest financial people to look very carefully at the financial feasibility of this $70,000,000 project before we proceed. We definitely will get the direct advice of the management company that we hire before we proceed. All of the management companies that we have considered have a huge amount of experience in expanding CCRCs. They know what it takes to make one pay as it goes. They all have experience in running both for profit and nonprofit facilities. Please pray for wisdom for the decision makers on this project as we move forward.

Update

In August, the MESH Board awarded a five-year contract to Life Care Services, Inc. to manage the Home. Their start date was August 21, 2006. The other major decisions of Board included:

1. Open up admissions to the general public in order to fill the vacant beds and thus keep costs down as low as possible. The non-affiliated admissions would all be full pay with no extension of any charity. This would allow MESH to maximize their charity to the fraternity and OES affiliated admissions.
2. A decision on the $70 million Expansion Project was delayed until November, at the earliest, in order have Life Care Services review the feasibility and to provide their recommendation.

The MESH Committee is supportive of the efforts by the grand master and Board to insure effective and efficient management that provides security and care for those entrusted to us today and allows this quality of care to continue in perpetuity.

Special appreciation is extended to Debby Idol, the MESH financial manager for meeting with the Committee to provide an overview of the operation, to tour the facility, and to answer questions; and to Junior Grand Warden Dan Rice for his detailed explanations to the Committee.

While they have faced challenges that have resulted in some necessary changes, there has also been good work by the MESH staff to provide quality care to the residents. We commend the achievements and accomplishments of the administrator and staff. The facility has much to offer: the Independent Living Village; the Residential Independent Living; the Nursing Home Services, both intermediate and skilled care levels; the Alzheimer and Related Dementia Services, and Short-Term Rehabilitation.

As the baby boom generation ages, North Carolina faces a record increase in the number of senior citizens in the coming decades. There is great need for the services provided by MESH for our fraternity. Please, take the time to learn more and support your Home!

Report of the Administrator of the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford

The following report of the administrator of the Masonic Home for Children in Oxford was received, entered on the record, and referred to the Board of Directors of the Masonic Home for Children.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

2006: The Year in Review

*"These generous principles are to extend further;
every human being has a claim upon your kind offices."*

Throughout the year, the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford continued to serve an average of seventy-four children and families. The majority of these children came from referrals from Freemasons, persons who had heard about the Home through Masonic affiliations, and from friends of Masons. The departments of social services also made referrals, as did churches and school personnel. Most of the children are in the custody of single parents, grandparents, or other relatives who are experiencing difficulties raising their families. Over the past several years the average age of the children coming into care has continued to rise, and 2006 was no different. The average age of a child in care now is 13 years old upon entry. The average age of a child in care is now 14 years, and the average amount of time spent in care is now 14 months. In the past, many children came into residential care as very young children and remained there until they graduated from high school. The Home continues to serve children of all races and ethnicities. During the past year we served children of Caucasian, African-American, Hispanic, Native-American, and mixed heritage.

*"The ways of Virtue are beautiful.
Knowledge is attained by degrees.*

Wisdom dwells with contemplation. There we must seek her."

Most of the children coming into care are struggling in school and in their home communities. Although we were unable to have every child pass his or her grade for the year, we were able to pass 97% and were able to get many of those who were behind a grade level brought back to where they belong academically. The children who did not pass for the year were just too far behind in the school year to be brought up to standard. The overall grade point average for the year was 80.75%. There are four students in college and being supported by the Home and Masons from their home communities. The Home provides many incentives for success in the classroom and has tutors and volunteers on campus to help the children make their grades. The Home has an excellent relationship with the Granville County schools, and both parties work hard at maintaining that relationship. The benefactors of this effort, of course, are the children. For those who have been with us for several years prior to graduation, we have scholarship funds available to assist them in furthering their education after high school either in the trades or through formal education in college.

"By Speculative Masonry, we learn to subdue the passions, act upon the square; keep a tongue of good report, maintain secrecy, and practice charity."

Operations for the year 2005, the latest full year for which data is available, resulted in continued improvements to the child care programs and facilities. Although total income for the year was down 15.4%, revenue exceeded operating expenditures for the fourth year in a row. Total operating expenses were $228,050 less than the prior year for a reduction of nearly six percent. Gifts from planned giving and stock donations were significantly less in 2005. Seventy-eight percent of the revenue in 2005 came from wills and trusts and the income resulting from investment of those contributions. Only one percent of our income came from new sources such as DSS Board reimbursements. Investment income and capital gains amounted to 34% of our operating revenues. Wills and bequests amounted to 29%; Masonic donations accounted for 17%; third party trusts were 13%, general public giving was four percent; two percent came from the Masonic Foundation and other income made up the other one percent of revenue.

Under the direction of their manager, Eddie Dickerson, our School of Graphic Arts or Print Shop netted almost $7,500 revenue over expenses that also went back into the care of children. This is the second year that the School of Graphic Arts has produced income over expenses, and they are well on their way to having another very good year. The School of Graphic Arts is also the largest "employer" of children in our KidsEarn™ work program. Children working at the print shop are permitted to work on any Masonic-related material and on any graphic arts and layout projects that are not commercially-related. They publish an annual yearbook and quarterly newspapers for the campus. The School of Graphic Arts is a vital component of our operations and is proving more and more to be a strong asset in our child care program.

Our operating expenditures were once again more in line with what we are challenged to do by our charter; that is to care for children in need. More than forty-seven percent (47.3%) of our expenditures went directly into child care with 23.6% going to maintenance, utilities, and general repairs of the buildings and facilities. Administrative expenses including insurance, health, and other benefits for all of our employees accounted for 19%. Financial development only accounted for 5.26% of our expenses; a very respectable amount for funds development. Our capital improvements and purchases of new equipment amounted for only 3.33%, and the remainder was spent on computers and other technology.

"The wise man built his house upon a rock."

Renovations continued throughout the year on the older cottages. At the time of this writing, four of those units have been completed. Two of these will house older youth in an independent living program, one will serve as an inn for visiting Masons, Board members, and friends who need to spend the night. The fourth has living units upstairs for off-duty child care workers and a lodge room on the main level that will serve as the home for the newly-chartered Orphans Lodge. The older “cottages” are structurally very sound, and the exteriors and foundations were left intact so that they still blend in with the remainder of the campus. Renovations also continued on the Casey Proctor Gymnasium and the St. Johns Administration Building. Both of these facilities are beginning to take on a look befitting the tradition of Masonic Home for Children after several years of decline. The campus continues to look beautiful. Work on the remainder of the buildings and facilities is scheduled to continue for the next several years.

“As you increase in knowledge you will improve in social intercourse.”

At the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford, our child care workers are the best tool we have in working with children and families-in-need. Education, formal and skills development, along with experience make the difference between effective care givers and those incapable of doing the job. Our child care workers continue to increase their formal education and their skill training. Thirty-three percent of our staff have undergraduate degrees and 19% have obtained their master's degrees; another 19% have associate's degrees; 17% are currently in college, and 12% have high school diplomas. Our professional staff all hold at least a master's degree in their field. Our program director holds a master's degree in counseling and is board certified; he also has over 30 years in this field and has been a CEO of a large residential campus in the past. Additionally, our professional staff hold licenses and certifications in professional child care, education, and education supervision, recreational therapy, assessment testing and measurement, and in social work. Over 60% of our direct care staff have completed certification in their field and efforts are underway to have 100% of those employees who have been in our employ for more than one year obtain certification within the next year.

Our staff also completed approximately 125 hours of in-service training during 2005 in such areas as child abuse prevention and reporting, CPR/first aid, behavior management including behavior de-escalation and restraint, separation and loss, effective communications, resident rights, employee rights, confidentiality, anger management, group and family activities for values clarification.

“Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth...”

Children continue to attend the York Rite Chapel on campus, and spiritual development is an essential part of their growth and development. Although the Masonic Home for Children serves children of all faiths and creeds, all of the children we served over the past year were of Protestant Christian heritage. Along with Sunday worship services, the pastor holds weekly Bible study and prayer and vespers in the Homes, teaches some music classes, and is beginning a class in classical Greek for some of our children who are interested. The York Rite Chapel is open to the community, and all Masons are welcome to attend at their will and pleasure.

The Masonic Home for Children is proud of its affiliations with the professional community. Currently we are accredited by the Council on Accreditation of Services to Children and Families (COA), E.A.G.L.E. accreditation through the United Methodist Association, and we hold licenses from the state of North Carolina to operate a residential child care facility and to solicit funds. The Home is also a member of the Child Welfare League of America, the Alliance for Children and Families, Children and Family Services Association-North Carolina, the Southeastern Child Care Association, the Association for Child and Youth Care Practice, the Masonic Home Executives Association of North America, and other organizations. All of these affiliations and associations, licenses, and accreditations go a long way toward keeping your Masonic Home for Children at Oxford among the leaders in professional child care and family services and a Home that all Masons in North Carolina can be proud to say they support.

Douglas McConnell, Administrator

Report of the Committee on the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford

The following report of the Committee on the Masonic Home for Children was received, entered on the record, and referred to the Board of Directors of the Masonic Home for Children.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

Pursuant to Regulation 34-18 of The Code of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina, the Committee on Masonic Home for Children at Oxford wishes to submit the following report:

The committee met on the campus of the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford, herein, MHCO, on June 6, 2006.

Our home is currently staffed with: child care personnel 32, program staffing 10, maintenance 4, and administration 5.

Cottage staffing work 24-hour shifts with 20 days on and 10 days off.

The Home has 67 children at this time. Minority levels run about 10%.

Child placement continues to come from Masonic referrals and Social Services.

Construction work is underway in the main building and existing cottages. Older cottages are being remodeled to independent living apartment units to be rented through the PAL Program. Work is to be completed in the fall of 2006.

Cobb Center renovations have been completed with interior space being converted into offices, rental-meeting rooms, exhibit areas, and storage. This work was done through privately donated funds, with a $50,000 per year maintenance allowance included.

Repair work has been completed on the gym with work on the roof, windows, and painting. MHCO has started a program with the city and county allowing uses of the facilities as long as the Home's children can participate at no charge. A plan to use the old dining/kitchen area as a teaching center is in the beginning stages with a local college. It is also rented for retirement dinners, city retreats, and other functions. Rumors of an out-of-state university moving on campus proved to be just that — rumors only.

Church services are being held Sunday mornings, with Tuesday and Wednesday Bible studies. A nursery program has also been started. The Home is working with the city and county recreation departments on activities. Programs include baseball, basketball, softball, and soccer. On site camps include cheerleading and basketball. During the summer, the Home tries to schedule one off campus activity per week.

Meals continue to be prepared and served in each cottage. Food staffing has one full time employee with two assistants. Federal programs like school lunches and the Food Bank are used as needed.

Funding for the Home continues to come mainly (76%) from investment income, third party trust, wills and bequests. Only 17% comes from Masonic donation at this time. Of the trust, wills and bequest — 50% are non-Masonic donations. Of 46 former Masonic children's homes in the country, only five remain at this time.

MHCO is in very good shape so far as the activities and construction going on at this time. The leadership is strong and appears to have a good hold on matters with positive planning for the future.

Report of the Representative to the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association

The following report of the representative to the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association was received and entered on the record. The portion pertaining to finance was referred to the Committee on Finance. The recommendation that we continue membership was adopted by the delegates.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

The 96th Annual Meeting of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association was held in the Opryland Hotel, Nashville, Tennessee on February 19, 2006. The meeting was called to order by Michael D. Brumback of Indiana, first vice-president of the Association. W. Scott Stoner was unable to attend the meeting of the Association due to illness and reported that he was unable to continue as president.

The invocation was given by Anthony P. Wordlow of California, second vice-president.

A brief history of the Association was given. The George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association was formed in 1910, held its first meeting in 1911, and met in Washington, DC in 1926 to observe construction of the Memorial.

In his report President Stoner encouraged participation in the Association's Planned Giving Program. He emphasized the tax benefits, lifetime income for the Memorial and the one dollar per member campaign.

Executive Secretary-Treasurer George Seghers reported an increase in media coverage for the Association, increased interest in the Memorial, and an increase in activities during the year. He reported 73,000 copies of the Messenger are mailed to members quarterly.

Officers elected were: President Michael D. Brumback, Vice-President Anthony D. Wordlow, Second Vice-President Roger A. Simmons, Third Vice-President Donald A. Hicks Jr., and Secretary-Treasurer George D. Seghers.

The speaker of the day was the new director of collections, Mark A. Tabbert.

Since my last report, Lee Long and Jerry Durmire became Gold Master members, William Pugh made a donation, Broward Davis and Robert E. Gresham, Jr. became Silver Craftsman members, and Warren Alvis became a Twenty-First Century member of the Association. The Grand Lodge of North Carolina made a $5,015 contribution for 2005 based on the number initiated during the year.

I make the following recommendations:

1. The Grand Lodge of North Carolina continue its membership in the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association.
2. The goal of the Association is to achieve a one dollar per member contribution annually from each grand lodge. As the first step toward achieving this goal, I recommend that we discontinue our contribution based on initiations each year, and make a 20¢ per member contribution this year. This per member contribution would be increased as circumstances permit until the one dollar level is reached. Contributions based on membership will assist in the budgeting process for the Foundation.

3. The Grand Lodge continue to encourage individual participation in Association programs and visitations.

Respectfully submitted,
William H. Simpson, PGM, Representative

Report of the Representative to the Masonic Service Association of North America

The following report of the representative to the Masonic Service Association of North America was received and entered on the record. The portion pertaining to finance was referred to the Committee on Finance. The recommendation that we continue membership was adopted by the delegates.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

The annual meeting of the Masonic Service Association of North America was held at the Opryland Hotel, Nashville, Tennessee on February 19, 2006, in conjunction with the Conference of Grand Masters of North America and was attended by your MSA Representative.

The Masonic Service Association encompasses a wide variety of programs aimed at promoting and supporting Freemasonry throughout North America. Reports were presented and adopted on the Association's various programs, including the Masonic Information Center, publications, VA Hospital Visitation Program, and disaster relief.

The Masonic Information Center is a central source of accurate information about Freemasonry, which it provides to the general public through national and local media. It serves as the spokesman for the fraternity in responding to inaccurate information leveled at Freemasonry and assists Masonic grand lodges in disseminating accurate and authoritative information about the craft.

Since 1923, the MSA has published its popular Short Talk Bulletin. It also distributes many other publications of interest to the Masonic community. These are available from the MSA headquarters at Silver Spring, Maryland.

The MSA hospital Visitation Program continues to be a visible expression of Freemasonry's commitment of service to hospitalized veterans at the Veterans Administration Medical Centers throughout the United States. In North Carolina there are Masonic volunteers serving as MSA representatives at each of our four VA Medical Centers. This MSA program is an admirable Masonic endeavor serving many lonely and often forgotten veterans in these hospitals. It is deserving of the support of Masonic lodges.

Appeals for disaster relief were made by the Masonic Service Association in 2005 for those grand lodges most affected by Hurricane Katrina. A total of $1,371,000 was raised for Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi.

It is recommended that the Grand Lodge of North Carolina continue its membership in and support of the Masonic Service Association.

Respectfully Submitted,

Grand Lodge Scholarship Ad Hoc Committee

The Grand Lodge Unity Scholarship Ad Hoc Committee would like to make the following recommendations:

1. The present members of the Ad Hoc Committee serve as the first Scholarship Selection Committee in 2007 with its members to serve staggered terms. As a member rotates off the committee, the current grand master would appoint a new member to the committee.
2. The grand master should initiate a Grand Master's Pin Program to endow the Grand Lodge Scholarship Program.
3. The Grand Lodge should develop a follow-up program to track scholarship recipients.

Respectfully submitted,
William L. Dill

A number of Petitions for Restoration were received, entered on the record, and referred to the Committee on Appeals. A complete listing is included in the Report of the Committee on Appeals along with the disposition of each.

The Board of Publication of The North Carolina Mason

The following report of the Board of Publication of The North Carolina Mason was received and entered on the record.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

Your North Carolina Mason is, and continues to be, one of the outstanding Masonic papers in the country, reaching over 48,500 Masons in North Carolina and many Masons in other jurisdictions. It has always been the goal of our editor, Ric Carter, and the Board of Publications, to present the views of our members in an unbiased manner, whether they be the popular or minority viewpoint. We are grateful to contributing members for their enthusiasm, interest, and cooperation in the submission of pictures and articles on lodge activities for printing which helps make our paper the high quality publication that you, as members, deserve. However, this section of the paper, ever so interesting to the Craft, can improve if a little extra time is taken to insure that the camera is in proper focus and with a high pixel rate. Brethren, keep up the good work, your picture quality seems to be improving.

Have you noticed that your North Carolina Mason does not have an address label and is now bar coded; that the name and address are printed directly on the paper; and that there are tabs to hold the paper together? Bar coding the paper has proved to be very beneficial to us from a cost stand point to improved delivery. The Post Office has to do minimum handling; the size of The North Carolina Mason is the maximum size of a First-Class Letter; it is addressed like a letter; and it can thereby be sorted with First-Class mail for delivery. This makes for a more timely delivery to the brethren.

It is a continuing concern of your Board of Publications to exercise good stewardship in keeping costs down without sacrificing information flow or quality. The content of The North Carolina Mason has improved again this year, and each Brother is receiving his paper timely and at the lowest Postal rate. We reached near full potential in bar coding use in 2005, but owing to changes in personnel more tuning is required to achieve our desired goal. Great effort and excellent cooperation from MCHO School of Graphic Arts, grand secretary's office, and the Board of Publication is ongoing to get all of the problems solved so the budget will realize the maximum savings possible in postal costs.

The North Carolina Mason received seven awards for 2006:

North Carolina Press Club 2006 Communications Contest:

- First — Editorial in specialized publication
- First — Publications regularly edited by the entrant
- First — Photo in publication other than newspaper
- Third — Photo in publication other than newspaper and;

National Federation of Press Women 2006 Communication Contest:

- First — Editorial in specialized publication
- Second — Photo in publication other than newspaper
- Third — Publications regularly edited by the entrant

We wish to thank our Grand Lodge officers for their help and support. The School of Graphic Arts of the Masonic Home for Children in Oxford deserves special recognition for their outstanding service.

Do you need to read an article in The North Carolina Mason, but your copy has been misplaced? The Grand Lodge web site (<http://www.grandlodge-nc.org>) will have a copy on file that you can access through the Internet. The Board of Publication budget supports the web site as an electronic publication.

We hope that you get as much joy out of The North Carolina Mason as we do in keeping the means working so that you can be kept well informed. We have had a great year! Everything is working as it should, and more efficiently, and with only a 1.7 percent (0.9% without an anticipated postal increase) budget increase for 2007. Another year has passed without an increase in printing and handling cost, and the School of Graphic Arts is now operating in the black. Their profits help support The Masonic Home for Children at Oxford. Enjoy your paper!

Eddie H. Moody Jr., Chairman

Report of the Committee on Masonic Education

The following report of the Committee on Masonic Education was received and entered on the record.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

All of the members of the North Carolina Grand Lodge Committee on Masonic Education, extending from Highlands to Manteo, have email, and therefore we have been able to communicate quite effectively, especially on Sunday nights using electronic voice mail. At the request of Grand Master Jernigan, we have begun to the revise and update the four booklets presented first to the candidates and then to brothers upon the completion of their degrees: "On The Threshold," "The Entered Apprentice," "The Fellow Craft," and "The Master Mason." The committee met at MESH in Greensboro on May 10, 2006 to review our work. We will also meet during this 2006 Annual Communication.

The committee has been active assessing the educational and developmental needs of the North Carolina Grand Lodge in reference to both its general membership and subordinate lodge officers.

Recognizing the validity and concern inherent in retaining new members, the committee has focused on the goal of keeping those newly raised, as well as long-standing members of the fraternity, involved. The key, we believe, is education, not just of candidates, but their families, the community, and even the teachers themselves. If our youngest Brothers have this firm basis, they will be more likely to continue their Masonic journey as line officers, in becoming productive members of the Craft.

At the same time, there should be consistency throughout the Grand Lodge. Emphasis should be placed not just upon ritual proficiency, but also the history, landmarks, and other important aspects of the craft. This would greatly assist in the previously stated goals of creating strong mentors, coaches, and especially officers, who have a firm grasp of the intricacies of our fraternity, and thus be better enabled to support new brothers.

During 2005, the committee spent considerable effort examining two separate educational systems. The Program for Progress was developed in 1998 in response to the need for a replacement of the Lodge System for Masonic Education, originally published in 1936, and revised through 1969, when publication ceased. Both are excellent educational tools which need to be utilized by our lodges. For continuity, the revision of these documents has been given to the Grand Lodge Committee on Miscellaneous Publications, chaired by Speed Hallman.

The second aspect of fraternal education undertaken by the committee was also begun last year and centers on the Officers' Handbook compiled by Dudley Sheppard for use in his home lodge, Gate City Lodge No. 694 in Greensboro. Brother Sheppard was a member of the first-class of Wilkerson College and presented these booklets as the first graduate to present an educational program to Wilkerson College 760. These booklets contain checklists, calendars, officer information, Code regulations, and other items that can assist each officer to better perform their duties. Each is designed specifically for its position, albeit much of the information carries throughout. After much careful review and discussion, the committee felt that this was a project worth pursuing on a state level. Although the process of printing is currently underway, it is understood that these handbooks will be continually reviewed, revised, and updated to continue to serve as an instruction tool for officers and the Craft in general. Additional topics that could be covered in addenda include historical or educational background of Masonry, ritual, mentoring/sponsorship, coaching, investigation committees/orientation to the craft, and lecturing. Much of this information can derive from the current Lodge System of Masonic Education and Program for Progress. Appropriate sections can be chosen as needed from these current works, and their future editions, as supplements to the handbooks, thus introducing a new generation to the material.

This report thus reflects the two separate projects for this committee.

Respectfully submitted,
Rick Smith, Chairman

Report of the Committee on Masonic Public Relations

The following report of the Committee on Masonic Public Relations was received and entered on the record.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

This committee has been active during 2006. We have received and accepted an offer from Brother Gary Walker and his professional public relations firm to do some pro-bono work for the Grand Lodge. Brother Walker and Ms. JoAnne Heckman from his staff have developed a long-range program to improve the public perception of Masonry in North Carolina and also to put the fraternity more in the public eye. This is to be implemented in several phases.

The first phase is the development of a website strictly for the use of non-Masons seeking information. This website would have general information and would direct users to lodges in their home areas.

The second phase is the "Ask A Mason" membership campaign. This will involve the development and printing of a new brochure for prospective members. We hope to be able to set up tables or booths at shopping centers, malls, street fairs, etc. to answer questions from prospective members and distribute the brochures.

The third phase would be to have an annual "Masonic Volunteer Day" where Masons from across the state would volunteer on the same day to help a charity. Having Masons from the entire state participating in the same project on one day would certainly increase our public visibility and attract good media attention.

We will continue to pursue these projects to put a positive face on Masonry across the state.

Respectfully submitted,
Ray Hall, Chairman

Committee On Masonic Youth Organizations

The following report of the Committee on Masonic Youth Organizations was received, entered on the record, and such parts as required were adopted by the delegates.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

I am once again tasked with giving a report for the Grand Lodge Committee on Masonic Youth Organizations. It has been four years since the last time I had the responsibility to report. Since that time, I have been serving as Executive Officer of the DeMolay in North Carolina. My counterparts in the other two organizations are. Kay Letterman of the International Order of Rainbow for Girls, and Sandy Dunbar for the Job's Daughters. Together we have dozens of years working directly with the youth of this state, and I speak for all when I say that we are grateful for the monetary support of the Grand Lodge. Without that support, major activities could not be held, youth representation at international conferences could not be attained, and covering some of our basic expenditures, such as insurance, would be a strain. With that, I will report on some of the highlights and struggles we have had over the last year.

A subcommittee was established in 2001 to award North Carolina Masonic Foundation Scholarships for our Masonic youths. Chaired by Brother Frank Silber from Raleigh, this sub-committee developed the program, reviewed candidates and awarded scholarships. This year three deserving young ladies from the Rainbow organization received scholarships, each in the amount of $1,300. Our committee is proud of these young people, and we are looking forward to the continuation of this program in 2007 and future years. We wish to thank John Elmore, DeMolay past grand master; Johanna Silber, past grand worthy advisor; John Rose, administrator of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home; and Leanne Keith, past worthy advisor and past worthy matron for service to the Scholarship Subcommittee since its inception. The committee will be recruiting several new members for next year's awards as we try to filter in some new blood. We especially want to thank the Trustees of the North Carolina Masonic Foundation who have seen fit to offer this benefit to members of our youth organizations.

Some of the larger events this year included a social activity held in the spring at the Jones Masonic Campus that saw youths from around the state enjoying fellowship as well as a few hot dogs and fixings. This was one of the larger gatherings of the year. At the time of this writing, DeMolay was planning an event that included awards, induction ceremonies, advisor training, dinner and dance in Raleigh. At the event held on August 19, it was planned to induct new members and perhaps jump start chapters in Raleigh and Charlotte. The Rainbow held their Grand Assembly at the North Raleigh Hilton in June and had an impressive delegation travel to Oklahoma to attend their Supreme Assembly. Job's Daughters are working with one Bethel in Raleigh. They are always looking for new members, and continue to find great young people to fill their ranks, and adults willing to step up and serve.

DeMolay activity this year has been challenging. Although we have had several very good leads for potential chapters over the last 18 months, nothing has yet panned out. We are encouraged this year with the potential of the Charlotte chapter coming back on line after several attempts over the last five years. We have lost chapters in Asheboro, Greensboro, and Salisbury this year, primarily due to a lack of membership and loss of adult support. However, we have fielded inquiries and have some support for a potential Triad area chapter that would combine the efforts of Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and High Point. We have been in touch with potential sponsors in Wilmington, Kinston/Pink Hill, and Asheville. We need more. And we need advisors. We have two active chapters in North Carolina, a good chapter in Jacksonville and a handful of boys in Raleigh. For a state the size of North Carolina, and the number of Masons we have, we should have more youth activities, more chapters/assemblies/bethels, more members, and more adult involvement. I'll explain why.

An analysis was prepared earlier this year by an adult volunteer in another jurisdiction, which compared state populations and Masonic membership statistics, to youth organization membership. When looking at a ratio of DeMolay membership to Masonic membership, North Carolina was near the bottom. It was also poor when compared to state population. It goes without saying that the tenth most populous state should have a better standing in these surveys.

An important and vital part of the success of these groups is the recruitment, training, and service of adult volunteers. It is sometimes difficult for these organizations to find and train these volunteers on a regular and consistent basis. Some of the difficulties in establishing new groups in some areas of the state, such as Charlotte, Greensboro, and many other places in the western and eastern parts, have been the result of a lack of adult volunteers, lodge sponsorship, and commitments to these groups, not just in money but in time and expertise.

The last time I submitted a report, I tried to bring to the attention of the Grand Lodge the difficulty we are all facing in finding, training, and relying on volunteers to serve our fraternity. I am making the same comments this year. Every lodge in this state, with few exceptions, finds it difficult to recruit and find qualified and dedicated members willing to serve as officers in their lodge. As demographics change and lodges become "younger" and less populated, this has become an even greater challenge.

Our youth groups are pulling from an even shallower pool, because we are relying on those already committed in one form or another to the fraternity to fill our ranks as adult leaders. Many of these volunteers are overworked, and some do not possess the experience or training necessary to be an effective youth advisor. Some of the groups have even had to look outside the fraternity to find leaders for our kids. As a positive side effect, many of those adults have sought membership in Freemasonry.

From this even shallower pool are those that are appointed to be the advocates of our Masonic youth at the Grand Lodge level. As a member of this committee I have always seen this as an awesome responsibility, and not just a name on a list. I am glad that grand masters have seen fit to appoint effective advocates to this committee over the last several years. Part of our strength is derived from our adult leaders, and as you can see we are lacking.

When I present programs to lodges and Masonic groups, I talk about the three things that all groups need in order to have a chapter/assembly/bethel, namely, a sponsoring body, advisors, and members. I point out that if you are lacking just one of the three, you will not have a successful chapter. Think of it as a stool with three legs. If you're missing one of the legs, or one is shorter than the other, it's not going to stand. This has been the mission of the committee, to find and build that support.

Without commitments from the lodges, there is little that this committee can do to serve the Grand Lodge. We seek to find ways that lodges and bodies can increase their commitments to our youths. Regulation 61-8 of The Code requires every subordinate lodge to have a Committee for DeMolay that is tasked to "assist in the formation of DeMolay chapters in their communities and assist with the supervision of the said chapters." In my view, this regulation would be followed if you supported ANY of the three groups, not just DeMolay. This Grand Lodge Committee (and my job specifically as executive officer) is to assist you in accomplishing this requirement. Requests for education programs are fine, but soon, there won't be any youths to bring these programs. Not unless you convert the education we bring into action to help our youth groups grow.

This committee, I personally, and my counterparts with the Rainbow and Job's Daughters ask you to put us to work.

Respectfully Submitted,
Charles V. Rouse Jr., Chairman

The 2006 certified lecturer examinations were held according to the following schedule: August 12, Greenville and Greensboro; August 19, Wilmington and Charlotte; and August 27, Fayetteville and Asheville. The examinations continue to be offered on Saturday in an effort to be more accommodating to our certified brethren who have work conflicts. The Board expresses its sincere appreciation to the brethren at the six locations who donated the use of their facilities for the examinations.

The booklet "Important Information Concerning the Certified Lecturers" is posted on the Grand Lodge web page and is available to anyone with access to the Internet.

A web page solely for district deputy grand masters and district deputy grand lecturers is also being maintained. A new web page has recently been added for the Board of Custodians. The Board expresses its grateful appreciation to Brother Al Hardy for his valuable assistance in making these resources available from the Grand Lodge.

Brother Mack Sigmon, a member of the Board of Custodians, spent countless hours during the year in preparing a history of the Board of Custodians. This is something Brother Mack did on his own initiative, and his work provides an excellent overview of how the Board of Custodians evolved from 1903 to the present day. The Board thanks one of its own for a job well done.

The Board of Custodians expresses its appreciation to Grand Master Gene Jernigan for his enthusiastic support of the Board of Custodians and the certified lecturer program, and to Grand Secretary Walt Clapp for his assistance during the year. The Board also expresses its appreciation to Grand Lecturer Robert D. Street for his tireless efforts as grand lecturer. Brother Street is completing his third year as grand lecturer and has indeed left some big shoes to fill. To all our certified brethren throughout the state, we extend a sincere, "Thank you," for your continued faithful service to our craft.

J. Henry Brantley, Chairman

Report of the Committee on Masonic Ceremonies and Miscellaneous Publications

The following report of the Committee on Masonic Ceremonies and Miscellaneous Publications was received and entered on the record.
To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

Masons are taught to seek light. Many of our new brothers act on this lesson because they are enthusiastic about the craft and hungry for more knowledge. They will go through the chairs and remain active in their lodges as past masters and valued mentors and coaches. But, others are content to write annual checks for dues, and some are never heard from again.

What if we could excite – even inspire – a small percentage of those who would otherwise fade away? We can inspire them by giving them more light at a critical point in their relationship with Freemasonry.

Our committee proposed presenting a booklet, More Light in Masonry, to every new Master Mason. The booklet would be mailed with a letter of welcome from the grand master.

More Light will provide basic information to the new brother – the kind of information and advice a good coach would impart – and discusses the rewards of getting involved in his lodge and his community. More Light will continue the coaching, which naturally ends upon raising, and helps start the mentoring, which some new brothers do not receive.

Men today devote more time to work and family and have less time for civic activity. The time that they are able to give is precious, and they want to ensure that it is time well spent. More Light will present Freemasonry as an opportunity to serve the community, improve the self, and benefit from the fellowship that follows. More Light also will emphasize to the new Mason that we are a venerable and special fraternity, that we don't solicit members, and that, once one asks to join and is accepted among us as a brother, much is expected.

More Light will inform them that the real secret of Masonry is revealed through fellowship and service – in seeing that their lodge finds a need in the community and meets it – in arranging for a group of brothers to spend a day in Oxford with the children – in organizing a blood drive or sponsoring a youth baseball team and showing up at the ballpark to cheer them on. The thesis of More Light is that brothers get out of Masonry what they put in – and much more.

We propose that More Light serve as the end of the series that begins with On the Threshold and continues with The Entered Apprentice, The Fellow Craft and The Master Mason. These outstanding booklets, prepared by the Special Committee on Masonic Research and Education, should see more light themselves, and we suggest slight updates and a new format to give them a contemporary appearance. Freemasonry Revealed is another rich, and perhaps underused, educational resource that could be promoted through this process.

We also recognize and admire the work of our brethren who produced The Lodge System of Masonic Education (1969) and Program for Progress (1996). Their work has been inspirational and provides a strong basis for our efforts, but we need to provide more modern materials for new Masons.

The committee wrote and circulated drafts throughout 2005 and met in Hillsborough on February 18, 2006, to approve a final version. This document was given to the grand master at his District 19 meeting in Chapel Hill on March 7. In subsequent conversations with Grand Lodge officers, we learned that a substantial percentage of initiates never return for the second degree and we agreed to adapt More Light for distribution to newly initiated Masons.

In July we received an estimate for printing from the School of Graphic Arts at the Masonic Home for Children, and at this writing More Light awaits final approval.

Respectfully submitted,
Speed Hallman, Chairman

Report of the Commission on Subordinate Lodge Special Activities

The following Report of the Commission on Subordinate Lodge Special Activities was received and entered on the record.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

The Commission on Subordinate Lodge Special Activities is pleased to report that fundraising activities in the subordinate lodges have been increasing with activity for the 2006 calendar year. So far this year, the Commission has received requests from seventy-six lodges for a wide variety of fundraising activities. The Commission is pleased to announce that all requests were approved, and the fundraiser financial reports have indicated success in all the fundraisers.

Requests come in on a nearly daily basis from our subordinate lodges. More lodges are now beginning to use the Special Activities Commission for questions and concerns about their projects. Lodges are learning that special projects may be used for repairs on the lodge buildings that were not approved in past years. As a result of these questions, the Commission has revised the fundraiser guidelines from the previous year. For the benefit of those lodges that do not have a copy of the guidelines, they are herein printed for your convenience:

Special Activities Commission Guidelines

A lodge may hold up to two food fundraisers during each calendar year for the charities. Each fundraiser should be different and not two of the same kind. (such as a barbecue pork in the spring and barbecue chicken in the fall). The Commission should approve all fundraisers plus any additional fundraisers a lodge may want to hold. A lodge should try not have more than two food projects a year as it may be considered by government officials as interfering with local businesses.

A fundraiser should be completed in approximately 60 days from start to finish. You do not want to have an ongoing project, like for instance, a lodge breakfast the first Saturday of each month for six months or a raffle where tickets would be sold for four or five months.

A lodge may have a fundraiser for a building fund project. If the lodge is in major need of a new roof, carpet, air conditioning or heating system, handicap ramp, etc., a fundraiser may be used to supplement the building fund project. The building fund project should be a once-a-year effort. A raffle may only be used for charitable fundraising.

All printed tickets for any project should indicate where the proceeds are going and what charities will benefit from them.

A fundraiser may NOT be used to supplement the lodge operating expense account. A dues increase should be considered if there is a shortfall in operating expenses. This is covered under section 77-1 of The Code.

A fundraiser may be used for a community project such as placing books in the town library, scholarship fund, etc.

Ideas for a fundraising project include: food projects, golf tournaments, putt-putt golf tournaments where the families can be included, fishing tournaments, pancake breakfasts, charity motorcycle rides, etc. Use your imagination.

Raffles may also be used. Guidelines for raffles are a little stricter. Ninety percent of all raffles receipts must go to the charity. Some raffles that have been used in the past include: TVs, a vacation plan package (like a trip to a theme park, etc.), gift certificates, motorcycles, cars, campers, utility trailers, riding lawn mowers, power washers, shopping sprees with a local business, black powder guns or shotguns (A note on firearms: permits are not required for black powder but are on all others. The winner will need to acquire a firearms permit before taking possession of the firearm.).

Fifty/fifty drawings should not to be used. Cash cannot be given away as a prize, but gift certificates can.

There is an application form that should be used for the approval of all fundraising projects and a financial report form to be used after it is completed. Both these should be mailed to the current chairman of the Commission on Subordinate Lodge Special Activities. The current chairman is:

J. Luigi Ammons
PO Box 6043
Raleigh, NC 27628
919-834-8873

jlammons@mindspring.com

All lodges should continue to use The Code of the Grand Lodge of NC to assist them with the qualifications on fundraising projects. Reg. 43-12 of The Code covers fundraising activities. A few lodges are not obtaining permission from the Commission prior to their project. The Commission hopes this will improve in the following year with better communications between the subordinate lodges and the Commission. The Commission's main purpose is to keep all lodges in good standing with the tax structure in North Carolina.

The Special Activities Commission would like to extend its sincerest appreciation to all lodges that have complied with the guidelines of the Commission. The Commission also wishes to express its deepest appreciation to Grand Master Gene T. Jernigan for his support during this calendar year and to Grand Secretary Walt Clapp for his valuable assistance to the Commission. The Commission will continue to strive to reply promptly to all lodges requesting permission and/or information for a fundraising project.

Report of Special Committee to Review the Masonic Burial Service

The following Report of Special Committee to Review the Masonic Burial Service was received and entered on the record.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

This Special Committee was appointed by Grand Master Graham Pervier and sanctioned by then Deputy Grand Master Gene Jernigan to review the Masonic Burial Service which is presently described in the Masonic Ceremonies book and Bahnson Manual. It is also to carefully review Chapter 82 of The Code, which governs Masonic burials.

The grand master also charged us to give special attention to "how the burial service could be made more specific to the family of the deceased brother and how it might be made as compatible as possible, with the rites of the presiding clergy."

Each of these subjects has been carefully visited and expanded to include a review of the Lodge of Sorrow which is very much a part of the burial service, and the committee feels has loopholes that should be addressed. Unfortunately, due to some serious health issues encountered this year by members of the committee or their family, it was necessary to cancel, or reschedule several meetings. This has created a problem completing our work in time for this Annual Communication, in September.

Accordingly, Grand Master Jernigan after consulting with Deputy Grand Master

Berry Rigdon has authorized the committee to submit this interim report and continue its work, with the understanding that it will be completed during the next administration.

Resolution to Recognize Prince Hall

The Resolution to recognize North Carolina's Prince Hall Grand Lodge was received and entered on the record. Its full text and vote result appear in Saturday's business.

Grand Master Graham W. Pervier Final Report

Past Grand Master Graham W. Pervier presented his final report, supplementing his interim report presented at the previous Annual Communication. His complete and final report appears in the 2005 Proceedings of the Grand Lodge.

Tribute to Grand Master Pervier

The Board of General Purposes offered the following tribute to Past Grand Master Graham W. Pervier. It was received and entered on the record.

The time almost always comes that a grand master is faced with a sudden crisis. Each man who has served in the post has searched and prayed for strength in preparation for those stressful moments. Grand Master Graham W. Pervier was the first to prepare for the unexpected with training at Blackwater Security. Luckily, his term required none of the SWAT and automatic weapons experience he gained among that cognoscenti of covert operatives and high tech firepower.

Perhaps part of the Blackwater attraction was the draw of his old haunts. Pervier's early career had him serving as county manager in Currituck County (home of Blackwater) and also in county government in Beaufort County. Though those jobs were in his relatively distant past, many of the men he served with in those years were on hand as Pervier traveled around the state on official appearances as grand master. They showed their shared love for Masonry as well as their long-lived respect for their experiences with him.

While not technically a politician, Pervier's political skills are great. That is made clear by the fact that he was county manager in Forsyth County for more than 23 years. It points to a gift he shared with our Craft. He manages to make rich paths apparent to those around him without telling them what they should do.

A man of many meetings, meetings throughout a lifetime, Pervier was no friend of lengthy meetings. He placed value on the time of Masons, honing his message to give the maximum content, taking only the time necessary to pass along the desired lesson and direction.

All these things are skills that made him a loved leader of the Craft. He brought those talents to us and made us a better, closer family. His humor and sophistication enriched us.

We bid him now a fond wish that his coming professional retirement and reduction of Masonic duties should give him time with his grandchildren, time to take his wife Karen to all the quilt shops she wishes, and new experiences to share with us all.

Plaque Presentations

Grand Master Jernigan was given plaques of appreciation from the Masonic Service Association and the George Washington Masonic National Memorial. MSA Representative L. R. Thomas Jr. (PGM) and GWMNM Representative Charles E. Cathey (PGM) made the presentations.

Joseph Montfort Medals Presented

All attending previous recipients of the Joseph Montfort Award, North Carolina Freemasonry's highest award, were summoned to the west of the altar. There, they assembled to welcome and congratulate the three new recipients. Those recipients were Clarence Eugene Jernigan, Past Grand Master William B. Brunk, and Past Grand Master William G. Mathis.

First Day

Afternoon Session

At 1:15 P.M., Grand Master Jernigan called the Annual Communication to order.

Bryant D. Webster, of the Board of Directors of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home, introduced the Home's new administrator, Mark Kolada, to the membership. Mr. Kolada spoke briefly to the assembly about his thoughts on the Home and his new assignment.

At 1:15 P.M., Grand Master Jernigan called the Annual Communication from refreshment to labor.

Report of the Committee on Necrology

Rev. A. Gene Cobb, chairman of the Committee on Necrology, presided over the following memorial service honoring our members who have died since our last Annual Communication.

Brethren,

Each year, at the Annual Communication, we observe a time of remembrance for our brothers who have completed their labor here on earth. They were friends, family members, husbands, fathers, co-workers, and they deserve our recognition today.

Within the tiled recesses of our lodges, we experience the three degrees of Masonry: Entered Apprentice, Fellow Craft, and Master Mason.

Do we remember where were we first made a Mason?

It was not in the lodge. It was in our heart.

Deep down inside each one of us, we recognized something happening to make the goodness God gave us at creation become something better. Do you remember that joyous day when we recognized that it was the internal, and not the external qualifications, which Masonry regards?

Over the years, our attentive ear learned to recognize the instructive tongue, we were led to recognition of God's role in all of our lives.

Prior to our gathering in this place today, we have recognized our deceased brothers in communities across this grand jurisdiction. We have already gathered in our lodges and within our communities of faith to give due respect to those we loved as brothers. Today, we honor and remember them again.

Recognition extends itself beyond the grave, for while the issue here on earth may be our forms and ceremonies, the final issue is not our recognition of one another, but how God recognizes us as one of His.

A dear brother and friend of mine shared this poem with me that I hope will be read at my passing when Masonic rites are offered.

An old man lay sick in the Masonic home.
His face was wan as the white sea foam.
His eyes were dim, his hair was gray.
His back was bent with trials of the way.
He faltering spoke, but I heard him say.

I'm ready for my last degree.

I've come to the end of the level of time.
That leads us all to the grand lodge sublime.
From whose borne, none ever return.
More light in Masonry there I shall learn
By an altar where light shall evermore shine.
I'm ready for my last degree.

With the Apprentice's gauge I've divided my time
Into three equal parts since life's early prime.
And this I have found amidst life's turmoil.
My wages are due me, in corn, wine, and oil.
I'm ready for my last degree.

Each day from life's quarries, I've hewn a stone,
With the gavel I've shaped them, each one alone.
And shipped them along beyond that bright strand,
To build me a house in that great better land,
A spiritual house not made with hands.
I'm ready for my last degree.

I've squared each stone by the virtue square,
And plumbed them all true, as I shipped them there.
With the compass I've measured the Master's designs
And kept within due bounds, with his points and His signs.
My blueprints are folded; I've answered His signs.
I'm ready for my last degree.

The mortar I've made, from friendship and love,
To be spread with the Master's trowel up above.
My apron is worn, but its surface is white.
My working tools now will be cold and quiet.
My trestle board's bare, and I'm going tonight.
I'm ready for my last degree.

A few moments later, the old man was dead.
And I fancy that I could see his soul as it fled,
Upward and onward, to the great door,
Where he gave an alarm and a voice did implore.
The old man gave his answer with these words once more.
I'm ready for my last degree.

That night in the lodge, free from all strife and storm,
He took that degree, his last in due form.
So may I live like he did; to build day to day,
A spiritual house, in that land far away.
So when I meet my Grand Master I can say,
I'm ready for my last degree.

Brothers, are we ready for our last degree? Amidst life's turmoil, let us not forget that we labor for one who builds a spiritual house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

When we make the alarm at His door, will God recognize one of His own?

And at the end of the day, when our wages are due and we have answered the Master's signs — let us be sure and certain that the one we called God on earth will recognize us in that celestial lodge above, where the Supreme Architect of the Universe presides.

So may it ever be for all we remember today and for all who are in their heart, ready for the last degree.

Amen.

Final Report
of
Grand Master
Gene T. Jernigan

Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of North Carolina

2006

Report of the Grand Master

The following report of Grand Master Eugene T. Jernigan contains the interim Report of the Grand Master delivered at the Annual Communication and has been updated to include the concluding months of his term. It is Grand Master Jernigan's Final Report.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina, Past Grand Masters, Grand Line Officers, Officers of Constituent Lodges, and Voting Delegates to this Annual Communication, and Brethren all:

In keeping with the provisions of The Code, I make this report to you, the leadership of our Fraternity, relative to my term of office as Grand Master. It is only a summary of a year that has flown by and one which I will forever cherish the memories of every moment.

It is indeed a pleasure to welcome you to the 219th Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of North Carolina. It is good to return to Winston-Salem, and I hope your stay here will be enjoyable. Grand Lodge Annual Communication is always a special time, but to return to Winston-Salem this year makes it even more special for Charlla and me. It was two years ago during Grand Lodge here in Winston-Salem that our first grandson was born — so at the close of this session, you guessed it, we will join James in celebrating his second birthday.

The State of the Craft

It is an exciting time to be a Mason in North Carolina. There is so much happening within our great fraternity. For the most part, lodges across the state are busier than ever with degree work. The number of petitions for the degrees of Masonry received by the grand secretary's office continues to show a marked increase over the same period last year. I must tell you that I am proud to be a Mason and how deeply honored I am to have been allowed to serve you and all of the Masons of North Carolina as grand master. It is an awesome responsibility, and it is truly the greatest honor of my life. I am most appreciative to you for the confidence you had in electing me as your grand master. I am deeply humbled by the respect that has been shown to me as I have traveled across this state meeting Masons from Robbinsville, in the far west, to Elizabeth City, in the east. It is so apparent that the office of grand master is held in high regard by Masons everywhere and again to you, I say, "Thank you," for the privilege of serving this grand jurisdiction.

We are members of the oldest fraternity in the world, and in my opinion, it is the greatest. The rich heritage enjoyed by our fraternity and the fact that Freemasonry is based on the time honored principles of FRIENDSHIP, MORALITY, AND BROTHERLY LOVE tell me that we have the basis for what society so desperately needs today. It is up to us as individuals what we will do with the opportunities that are ours. The heightened interest and increased public awareness in Freemasonry today provides us with an excellent opportunity to let the light of Freemasonry shine brighter than ever before. So I encourage you to join me in accepting the challenge to "spread the cement of brotherly love and affection" not only among our membership but in the world at large and to live up to the moral standards to which we are obligated.

Those of you who are serving as voting delegates have an important obligation to consider the several amendments and business that will come before our Annual Communication. Often, one of the most difficult things for us to do is to be true to ourselves. Each one of us must be willing to stand up for what we know is right, and I encourage you to search your conscience relative to the matters that we will consider so that Freemasonry will be seen by others as being what we say we are.

Necrology

Since being together for our Annual Communication last year, our grand jurisdiction has suffered the loss, through death, of many of our members. Their labors here on earth are done, and the Supreme Architect of the Universe has called them Home. Our lives have been touched and enriched by these brothers, and our challenge is to live such that we may join them "in that house not made with hands eternal in the heavens." The deep sympathy of our fraternity is extended to their families and these departed brethren will be honored in a memorial service conducted by Reverend Brother Gene Cobb.

DDGM and DDGL Area Meetings

In November of last year, five area meetings were held in Waynesville, Statesville, Siler City, Williamston, and Wallace. At these meetings, the grand secretary, Brother Dalton Mayo, secretary of the Board of Custodians and soon to be installed junior grand steward, and I met with the district deputy grand masters and district deputy grand lecturers to discuss plans for the 2006 year. Our meetings began in a joint session, and I spoke to the DDGMs and DDGLs about ways we could improve our image and spread the light of Freemasonry. We discussed the recognition of Prince Hall Grand Lodge, and I asked for their help in passage of this resolution so that this issue of adverse public perception might no longer burden us. I spoke with them about Wilkerson College, and I asked for their help in encouraging the lodges in their districts to send their deacons to this worthwhile leadership initiative of our Grand Lodge. The DDGMs were encouraged to work closely with the lodges relative to their finances, the need for budgets, and fundraising initiatives for our charities. They were asked to specifically discuss ways to reduce the loss of members for nonpayment of dues and ways to reduce the number of unfinished candidates.

I enjoyed a good time of fellowship with these very important representatives of our Grand Lodge, and I am convinced that we have some of the most dedicated men that can be found anywhere serving in these positions. We are indebted to these men for the giving of their time, talents, and resources for the cause of Freemasonry. On a number of occasions during the year, I have had to call on some of them for their help in difficult situations and I am pleased to report that when asked they have always been more than willing to respond to the need for help. Please accept my sincere thanks for all of your cooperation and support during the year.

District Meetings

Twenty-five district meetings were held across the state with the purpose of meeting and visiting with as many of our brothers as possible. The lodges that hosted our meetings are to be commended for the extra effort that was made to make our meetings so successful. The meals that were provided were excellent, and I was overwhelmed by the outstanding attendance at our meetings. What a pleasure it was to see some of our lodge rooms filled to capacity! We were supported at these meetings by the DDGMs and DDGLs who gave reports on happenings within their districts. The Grand Lodge Officers and representatives from many of the boards, committees, and commissions of the Grand Lodge joined us as we fellowshiped with the brethren across the state. It was my distinct personal pleasure to be able to have my father, Brother Eugene Jernigan, accompany me on sixteen of these meetings. I owe a special "thank you" to the Grand Tyler G. H. Wilson and the Junior Grand Steward Dalton W. Mayo for their support as they, too, joined me for many of these late night travels.

These meetings provided the opportunity to discuss with the brethren my thoughts on the rich heritage of our great fraternity; our membership and how we can hope to see these numbers improve; the recognition of Prince Hall by our Grand Lodge; and how through good leadership, proper planning, and education, we can help to strengthen the foundation of Freemasonry for the future. Brothers Doug McConnell, Allen Hughes, Chris Richardson, or a member of the Board of Directors gave reports on the activities at the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford. Brother John Rose or a representative of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home was also in attendance to update the brethren on happenings at Greensboro.

I was humbled each time I was received into the lodge room. It was a great pleasure to shake hands with so many good men who, as evidenced by their attendance at our meetings, have a great love and devotion for Freemasonry. I regret not being able to visit more lodges and districts.

Emergent Communications

The Grand Lodge has convened in emergent communication on three occasions during the current year. It has been my honor to dedicate new lodge buildings at: Coharie Lodge No. 379 in Salemburg on April 8; Ocean Lodge No. 405 in Morehead City on June 17; and Union Lodge No. 618 in Midland on August 12. The Master and officers of these lodges are to be congratulated on their preparation for the ceremony of dedication. Likewise, the members of all of these lodges are to be applauded for their hard work and steadfast devotion to the cause of Freemasonry. They have truly constructed Masonic edifices of which we can all be proud. The buildings are beautiful, and it was quite apparent from the enthusiasm and positive attitudes of the large numbers in attendance that Masonry is alive, well and flourishing in these communities.

Joseph Montfort Medals

I expect to award the three Montfort Medals that I am allowed to present prior to the end of my term of office. I will report on these presentations in my final report to the Grand Lodge.

Physical Disabilities

During the year, I have approved thirteen waivers for physical disabilities of petitioners for the degrees of Masonry. In each case, the district deputy grand master of the district from which the petition was received made a personal investigation of the petitioner and reported his findings. My approval was based on their findings and their recommendations. Again, we rely on our DDGMs, and again I want to thank them for their service to Freemasonry.

Masonic and Eastern Star Home

The Report of the Administrator and the Report of the Committee on the Masonic and Eastern Star Home, Inc. which are printed in this publication are recommended for information relative to activities and the operation of our Home.

Over the past several years our Home has operated with significant financial deficits. Expenses have continued to increase, and revenues have fallen short of budgeted projections. Each year, the Board was presented with budgets that for various reasons could not be achieved. An expansion project to enable us to serve more fee for service residents and underwrite the escalating cost of charitable service seemed to be a feasible way to overcome the financial struggle we were experiencing. The Board of Directors, after much study and consideration, engaged a development team to begin the expansion planning while reserving the option to stop or to go forward as more definitive information became available.

We are required by the North Carolina Department of Insurance (DOI) to maintain financial reserves equal to 25% of our annual operating budget. The 2006 operating budget is nearly $8 million; thus, our reserve requirement is $2 million. Early this year, the fund balance dropped below $1.7 million. In May, following our quarterly Board Meeting, the chairman of our Finance Committee was advised by our auditor that it was his opinion that the DOI, in view of our financial condition, might require us to employ a management company or assume management of our Home. On receiving this information, we inquired of our development team, who were involved in discussions relative to bond financing for the proposed expansion, of their thoughts on this matter, only to learn that they shared the same opinion.

A specially called executive session of the Board of Directors was convened. At this meeting the Board, after discussions with the auditor, made two unanimous decisions: (1) to hire a management company; (2) to solicit from the North Carolina Masonic Foundation, the Eastern Star Foundation, and the Eastern Star's Ruck Fund a total of $2 million to be placed in a Board restricted reserve fund to restore our compliance with DOI regulations. Less than a week after this action by the Board, the administration of the Home was contacted by DOI relative to our non-compliance. They were advised of the Board's action and of our plans to restore our reserve. The North Carolina Masonic Foundation and the Eastern Star's Ruck Fund have responded to our request and funds have been given to the Home to ensure compliance with DOI's reserve requirements.

The Board has entered into a contractual agreement with Life Care Services, Inc. (LCS) of Des Moines, Iowa to provide management services. LCS has been in the health care management business for over forty years and is the largest provider of these specialized services in the country. They currently provide service to more than eighty facilities including eight in the state of North Carolina. LCS has named Mr. Mark Kolada as interim administrator, and he began work on August 21. Over the next 90–120 days, LCS will be evaluating all aspects of our operations including the proposed expansion plan.

The Board has recently adopted an open admissions policy to more fully utilize our assets and to maximize revenues. We are very optimistic that LCS will provide the management skills necessary to return our operations to financial stability and enable us to operate more effectively and efficiently while continuing to provide an unsurpassed level of care and compassion for our residents.

We are indebted to the management team and to each employee for their untiring efforts and steadfast devotion during this difficult transition period. Just as it is their job to care for the residents, we have an obligation to support our elderly brothers and sisters. The assets of our Home are substantial; however, our charitable obligation significantly exceeds our contributions. During 2005, on average, the Masons of North Carolina gave only $8.92 per member. This is unacceptable. Based on our current budget, a contribution of approximately $50 per Mason is needed to balance the budget. It has been suggested by some that the Grand Lodge should tax the membership for the amount necessary to meet our charitable obligations. I ask each of you to earnestly consider how you and your lodge can help to meet the needs at our Masonic and Eastern Star Home so we might continue to serve our deserving members.

Masonic Home for Children at Oxford

The Report of the Administrator and the Report of the Committee on the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford which are printed in this publication are recommended for information relative to activities and the operation of the Home.

Our campus at Oxford continues to be a source of pride for every Mason in North Carolina. We are very fortunate to have a Board of Directors that is actively involved through its several committees to provide policy and direction for our administrator. The staff at Oxford is to be commended, as our Home is accredited by two of the leading child care organizations in the country. This means that the level of care our children are receiving meets the most stringent requirements of any childcare agency anywhere.

Renovations are currently being completed on a number of buildings on campus. You should make plans to visit and see the work that has been done to make four of our older cottages ready for the newest model of care that is set to begin on our campus this fall. The PAL (Preparation for Adult Living) program will involve youths 18 years old or older who are struggling with the transition from supervision by the Department of Social Services to independent living. In addition to housing the PAL program, one of the buildings will serve as the home for our newest chartered lodge, Orphans Lodge No. 761. This specialty lodge was chartered for the purpose of providing support for our children.

Masonic support for our Home averaged approximately $16 per Mason for the 2005 year. This is not enough. If we are to continue to provide for the care of our children, and in the words of Brother Doug McConnell, make “The Masonic Home for Children at Oxford a great place to be a Kid,” we must increase our support of this charity. It is our obligation.

VA Hospital Visits

I have had the privilege and honor of visiting our Veterans Administration Hospitals in Salisbury, Asheville, and Fayetteville, and I plan to visit the Durham Hospital during the next month. On April 12, Brother Bill McComb and a number of brothers from the 28th Masonic District greeted me on my visit to the hospital in Salisbury. On May 17, Brother John Lynch and volunteers Brother Jim Hay and Brother Louis Dean welcomed me to the Fayetteville facility. It was my honor to present Brother John Lynch with a Certificate of Recognition for his 20 years of service as a Masonic Service Association Volunteer. On May 23, Mrs. Inza Lance, our MSA Representative and volunteer Brother Ralph Messer welcomed Deputy Grand Master W. Berry Rigdon, Grand Secretary T. Walton Clapp, and me to the Asheville campus. During each visit, it was apparent that our Masonic Service Association Representatives, and the volunteers who work with them, provide a valuable service in the name of Freemasonry. I was deeply honored to meet so many veterans, Masons and non-Masons, who through their service to our country have made the freedom that we enjoy possible. I extend a hearty THANK YOU to everyone who serves in this worthwhile cause.

Board of Custodians

J. Henry Brantley was elected chairman of the Board of Custodians this year. We are again indebted to the members of the Board, their Secretary Dalton W. Mayo and Grand Lecturer Robert D. Street for overseeing the ritualistic work of the fraternity. They have continued to promote the certified lecturer program across the state, and the area certification sessions were completed in August. The results are not final at this writing, but it does appear that we will again suffer a loss in the number of certified lecturers; however, the number of losses is less than those of previous years. The Board continues to look at new ways to encourage our members to prove proficiency in the authorized work.

Board member Dwight M. (Mack) Sigmon is to be congratulated for his efforts in writing a history of the Board of Custodians. It is interesting to read of the evolution of our Board over the years. Thanks to Brother Mack for a job well done.

Special thanks also go to Grand Lecturer Robert D. Street, who will complete his third year of service as grand lecturer to our grand jurisdiction. Brother Bob has done an outstanding job, and we appreciate his devotion to Freemasonry.

Conference of Grand Masters in North America

The conference of Grand Masters in North America was held in Nashville, Tennessee on February 18–22. I was joined in representing our grand jurisdiction by Past Grand Master L. R. Thomas Jr., our representative to the Masonic Service Association of North America; Past Grand Master William H. Simpson, our representative to the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association; Past Grand Master/Grand Treasurer Clifton W. Everett Jr., Grand Secretary T. Walton Clapp III, Past Grand Master Charles A. Lewis Jr., Past Grand Master William G. Mathis, and National Sojourners Second National Vice-president James Earl Vann. The conference agenda offered a variety of very informative breakout sessions. The admission of Prince Hall Grand Lodges as voting delegates was discussed however, after several motions, votes and rulings by the chair, action was deferred. I especially enjoyed meeting and talking with other grand masters. It seems that everyone is experiencing the same concerns, Masonic education, public awareness, and Masonic identity were topics of discussion. Our participation in this Conference is very useful as it provides for the exchange of ideas and fellowship with the leadership of other jurisdictions. We thoroughly enjoyed our visit to Nashville, cold weather and snow included.

Southeastern Masonic Conference

The Forty-Sixth Southeastern Masonic Conference was hosted by the Grand Lodge of Mississippi August 3–4 in Jackson, Mississippi. Past Grand Master William G. Mathis, who represented the National Masonic Foundation for Children, Deputy Grand Master W. Berry Rigdon and Senior Grand Warden David R. Cash, joined me for the conference. We enjoyed the opportunity to visit with brethren from neighboring jurisdictions. Each of the ten Southeastern states that make up this conference is assigned a topic for presentation. The topic assigned to us was “The Public Perception of Freemasonry: What Are We Doing to Improve It?”

I solicited the help of Brother Dan Weatherington, the Dean of Wilkerson College, for our presentation to the conference. The programs were informative, and we enjoyed the fellowship and sharing of ideas with the leadership of the jurisdictions in attendance. The trip to Jackson was quite warm as you might imagine.

Over the past several years, there has been discussion about the possibility of our Grand Lodge aligning with grand lodges from the Mid-Atlantic region in the formation of a new conference. To observe proceedings at another conference and further dialog on this subject, our Grand Secretary T. Walton Clapp and Grand Treasurer Clifton W. Everett attended the Northeast Conference in Baltimore. No plans or decisions have been made relative to this matter.

Other Visitations

It has been an honor to represent the Grand Lodge of North Carolina on a number of occasions and visit with our appendant bodies as well as other grand jurisdictions.

I began the year by attending the Shrine Bowl of the Carolinas in Spartanburg, SC. The Shrine Masons of North Carolina were gracious hosts. South Carolina Grand Master Ronald C. Mitchum and Imperial Potentate Gary Dunwoody made an extra effort to welcome us to this event. It was a cold day for a parade, a great day for football, and it was topped off with a victory by the North Carolina High School All-Stars.

I was invited to speak at Blue Lodge Night for Amran Temple in Raleigh. Potentate Kelly Adams, and the brothers of Amran had a good program, and I was honored to represent Freemasonry. I was the guest of Sudan Temple, my home temple, for their Spring Ceremonial in Carolina Beach. Potentate Olen Smith has placed special emphasis on Shrine-blue lodge public relations throughout the year, and it is good to see this unified effort for the good of Freemasonry. Again, I was the guest of our three Shrine temples as I attended the 132nd Imperial Council Session of the Imperial Shrine of North America in Tampa, Florida. Our North Carolina Shrine temples hosted a Grand Master's Dinner in my honor. Potentate Billy Farris and the brothers of Oasis Temple presented me with an honorary membership. It was an honor to have Imperial Second Ceremonial Master Alan W. Madsen of Oasis Temple join us for dinner.

I have been the guest speaker for Camp Lejeune Chapter 329 of National Sojourners in Jacksonville and my home chapter, North Carolina Chapter 97 in Fayetteville for their annual Blue Lodge Night. I brought greetings as a charter member of William Hooper Chapter of National Sojourners at their charter night in Wilmington.

I was honored to be the speaker and guest of the Grand York Rite Bodies of North Carolina at their Annual Communication in Hickory. In July, I had the privilege of representing the Masons of North Carolina as the keynote speaker at the 69th Anniversary of the Great Smokies Summer Assembly of York Rite Masons in Maggie Valley. It is always good to visit the mountains of North Carolina — the weather was gorgeous, and the fellowship with our York Rite brethren from across the United States was most enjoyable. The theme of this year's assembly was "It's YOUR Rite," and in my remarks, I challenged the brethren that the York Rite and all of Freemasonry belongs to us, and it is up to each of us as individuals what we will do to preserve its heritage. It was a special honor for me to be inducted into the York Rite Sovereign College of North Carolina during their meeting in Maggie Valley. Blair Ferguson, Bobby Joe Kitchen, and Past Grand Master William B. Brunk are to be congratulated on the outstanding year that is being enjoyed by the Grand York Rite Bodies of North Carolina under their leadership.

Past Grand Master and Sovereign Grand Inspector General James Cole from Virginia presented a very timely program on financial considerations for Freemasonry at the Winter Scottish Rite Leadership Workshop in Greensboro. In April, my home valley of Wilmington invited me to be the speaker for the Maundy Thursday services. Again in April, I was the guest of the Scottish Rite for their leadership conference in Atlanta. It was a most informative conference, and Sovereign Grand Commander Ron Seale and all of the conference presenters are to be commended for an outstanding program. In late August, I attended the Scottish Rite Summer Leadership Conference in Asheville where the exchange of ideas and fellowship was outstanding. Our Sovereign Grand Inspector General and Past Grand Master William B. Brunk and his Valley of Asheville Personal Representative Jim Medlin presented a very good program. The efforts of the Scottish Rite to promote a positive image of Freemasonry to the general public are apparent through the program that was presented during the workshop.

The leadership of the Grand York Rite Bodies of North Carolina and the Scottish Rite Orient of North Carolina is to be commended for their unified effort at furthering enlightenment in Masonry as they make final plans for the upcoming Masonic Unity Challenge (MUC). The two bodies will combine efforts and offer both the York Rite and Scottish Rite degrees in a two-day session in late September. These sessions will be held in four area locations across the state. If you have not furthered your Masonic journey through these rites, it is an excellent opportunity to do so. Best wishes for a most successful MUC.

It was a distinct pleasure to represent the Masons of North Carolina in April at the Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina that was held at Myrtle Beach. Grand Master Ronald C. Mitchum and all of our neighboring brethren to the South were gracious hosts and treated us very warmly.

Our Grand Lodge officers, together with Prince Hall Grand Lodge officers, hosted the Annual Legislative Reception at the William Thomas House in Raleigh. The reception was well attended, and we enjoyed the time of informal fellowship with our fraternal elected officials.

I was the guest of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina Order of the Eastern Star at their 101st Annual Session in New Bern on June 19. I was pleased to bring greetings to the brothers and sisters of the Eastern Star. Senior Grand Deacon William L. Dill and I were most cordially received.

The Grand Assembly of North Carolina, International Order of The Rainbow for Girls invited me to their 69th Annual Session that was held in Raleigh on June 26. I encourage the continued support of Rainbow and all of our Youth Organizations as the future of our country and of our Masonic family lies with these youth.

Traveling to Ontario, Canada in mid-July for the 151st Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario was a special treat. It was very enlightening to observe the practices of our brethren north of the United States border. The hospitality extended to us was wonderful. The formal banquets, the reception of all the dignitaries, and the attire of the delegates at their sessions were quite impressive. Brother Gary Atkinson and all of the Canadian brethren made us feel right at home, and it was an honor to represent the Grand Lodge of North Carolina in Canada.

I was the guest of SENCLand Council No. 42 of the Grand Council of Knight Masons for their Annual Banquet and Ladies Night in New Bern. The Knight Masons and their ladies warmly received me, and we enjoyed a good time of food and fellowship. Senior Grand Deacon William L. Dill presented a very informative program.

On two occasions during the year, I have had the honor of welcoming visiting grand masters to lodges in our grand jurisdiction. On June 15, Grand Secretary T. Walton Clapp and I traveled to Hickory Lodge No. 343 where we joined Master David L. Brandon in receiving New York Grand Master Neal Bidnick. Brother Bidnick is a business associate of Lee Spach who was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. On July 11, I joined Master A. C. Everett Jr. and the brethren of St. John's Lodge No. 1 in Wilmington in receiving Virginia Grand Master Hunter Jones. Brother Jones and his family were vacationing at our North Carolina beaches and wanted to visit a North Carolina lodge. Brother A. C. hosted a delightful dinner and meeting.

It is a special honor to visit our appendant bodies, make out of state visitations and attend all of the events that I have noted above; however, there is no higher honor than that of being welcomed as the grand master of Masons of North Carolina in the subordinate lodges across our grand jurisdiction. I have had the high honor of presenting many service awards, attending open houses, banquets, church services, and ladies' nights, and I have been allowed to confer a number of degrees. These are truly the greatest pleasures of serving you, the Masons of North Carolina, as grand master. The warm hospitality and kindness that have been shown to me everywhere I go is just unbelievable, and I will forever be indebted to you for allowing me this great honor.

Addendum

The day after the close of our Grand Lodge session, I was pleased to attend a "Celebration of Valor" to honor Brother London Ivey, who was senior deacon of University Lodge No. 408 in Chapel Hill. Brother Ivey, a school resource officer, and a teacher disarmed a disturbed student at Chapel Hill High School who recklessly threatened the student body. Brother Ivey exemplified the true teachings of our gentle craft as he risked his own personal safety for the protection of others.

On September 29, several members of our Grand Lodge and I attended the public opening of Prince Hall Grand Lodge of North Carolina's Annual Communication in Raleigh at the invitation of Grand Master Milton "Tobie" Fitch. Grand Master Fitch spoke of the narrow defeat of the resolution for mutual recognition by our Grand Lodge. He acknowledged that it was his belief that the vote was not about race but due to a lack of education. I, too, hope it is not about race and I trust that we will soon get this issue behind us. We were honored as Grand Master Fitch presented several members of our Grand Lodge with honorary membership in Prince Hall Grand Lodge of North Carolina, and we were warmed by the hospitality extended to us by all the Prince Hall brethren.

I was pleased to bring greetings and make remarks at a special called meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the United States for the Royal Order Of Scotland that was held in Raleigh. A large number of our brethren were honored to be among the initiates into this historic and honorary order of Freemasonry.

I thoroughly enjoyed my interaction during the year with all of our appendant bodies, and I was pleased to attend the very successful Masonic Unity Challenge 2006, joint conferral of the Scottish and York Rite degrees that was held in October. I was honored to be initiated into the Raleigh Chapter of Knight Masons, and I continue to be impressed with the great pride that so many of our brethren take in the degree work that is conferred. I was pleased to participate in the KCCCH investiture for Senior Grand Warden David R. Cash and the installation of the Valley of Charlotte's Knights of St. Andrews Chapter.

One of the highlights of the year was being asked to participate in the many past masters, awards, and ladies' nights, and other special events held at our lodges. I visited Seaside Lodge No. 429 in Swansboro, Creasy Proctor Lodge No. 679 in Fayetteville, Hiram Lodge No. 98 in Clinton, Mingo Lodge No. 206 in Dunn, Goldsboro Lodge No. 634 in Goldsboro, and Albemarle Lodge No. 703 in Albemarle. I presented a variety of awards at these lodges, including 25- and 50-year service awards and paid tribute to many of our brethren who have labored tirelessly in the service of our great fraternity. It was my distinct privilege to present our Grand Lodge's 60-year Diamond Jubilee Award to five brethren, including my father, Eugene Jernigan. At the Ladies' Night and Awards Night at my home lodge, Mingo Lodge No. 206, I was honored to have my grand master's portrait presented for display in our lodge. I was delighted to speak at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of King Solomon Lodge No. 704 in Gastonia where more than 100 members and guests helped to celebrate this Masonic milestone. I also had the pleasure of presenting a Certified Lecturer Emeritus Certificate to Brother Pierre H. Hanks of Lebanon Lodge No. 391 in Fayetteville. The brethren from Lebanon Lodge No. 391 and other lodges in the area came together for the presentation at Campbellton Healthcare Center where Brother Hanks now resides. Tribute was paid to Brother Hanks who had faithfully served his lodge and Freemasonry in Cumberland county and the surrounding area as a certified lecturer for more than 25 years prior to suffering a disabling stroke.

I had previously visited all of our VA Hospitals with the exception of the facility in Durham. On November 1, Brother Cecil Lee, our MSA representative joined me for a visit at the Durham facility. Brother Lee arranged for our visit to coincide with the ribbon cutting for a newly renovated wing of the hospital. If you have never visited these facilities, I encourage you to do so and I assure you that you will be proud of the service provided by our Masonic volunteers. These men are outstanding ambassadors for Freemasonry as they provide assistance to our brethren as well as others at the VA Hospitals.

Throughout the year, I enjoyed visiting lodges for their stated communications. During the last 70 days, I was able to visit Palmyra Lodge No. 147 in Dunn, where I participated in the conferral of the Master Mason's Degree; Old Town Lodge No. 751 in Winston-Salem; Seaside Lodge No. 429 in Swansboro for their countywide scholarship dinner; Garland Lodge No. 664 in Garland; Mill Creek Lodge No. 125 in Newton Grove; St. John's Lodge No. 3 in New Bern; Roseboro Lodge No. 585 in Roseboro; and Southern Pines Lodge No. 484 in Southern Pines for the conferral of the Fellowcraft Degree. The brethren at Garland, Mill Creek and Roseboro honored me with honorary membership in their lodges. It is difficult to visit everywhere you would like to, and all too often, I was unable to say yes to the many invitations that were extended to me. One trip I really wanted to make became a reality. On November 7 and 8, Brother T. Walton Clapp, grand secretary, brother Ric Carter, editor of The North Carolina Mason, Brother Billy Dill, senior grand deacon and Brother Dalton Mayo, grand steward joined me for a trip to Ocracoke Lodge No. 747. Early in the year, district deputy grand master of the Second Masonic District, Brother Robert Despo had made a trip to be with me at a district meeting in the western part of the state and I told him I hoped to return the favor. Brother Despo and Master Donald Bachman and all of the officers rolled out the "red carpet" for our group and we had a great time of fellowship with the brethren on Ocracoke. I was honored to install their officers during this visit.

Lastly, Charlla and I made our way to Maggie Valley for the final meeting with the Board of General Purposes and the installation of the Grand Lodge officers. I expressed to the Board, and I say the same to each of you today, that it is difficult to find words to express my appreciation for the wise counsel, the unwavering support, and most of all your friendship. This has been a most exciting year, one that I will never forget and I am deeply indebted to our great fraternity and to every Mason in North Carolina for giving me the honor of serving as grand master. I am proud to be a Mason, and I am excited about the many good things that Masons are doing all across our grand jurisdiction. I believe the state of the Craft is good and I hope that in some small way, I have made a contribution to our wonderful fraternity that has given so much to me. I did not accomplish all that I hoped for during the year; however, I gave it my best and I look forward to continued service in Freemasonry.

It is my prayer that God will continue to bless each of you and Freemasonry.

Honorary Memberships

It is an honor to belong to a Masonic lodge and any of the appendant bodies in which we might have membership; but an even greater honor is to receive an honorary membership. I am indebted to the brethren of Spencer Lodge No. 543; Coharie Lodge No. 379; Hiram Lodge No. 98; Palmyra Lodge No. 147, and to the Shrine Masons of Oasis Temple who have this year honored me by giving me honorary membership in their lodges and temple. The surprise of receiving these memberships is overwhelming, and I only hope that I will live up to your expectations.

Wilkerson College

Since its beginning in 2002, the mission of Wilkerson College has been to provide training for our Masonic leaders of the future. The educational opportunities that have been provided by Wilkerson College, primarily to deacons of our subordinate lodges, are so important to the future of our Fraternity. The curriculum presented to these junior officers is designed to prepare them for the task of serving as master of their lodge. I want to thank the leadership of the Scottish Rite for the continued support of this worthwhile effort. Special thanks go to Dean Dan Weatherington who provided the leadership in the early days and to his able assistants who have more recently shouldered the mantle of responsibility for the ongoing success of the College. Assistant Dean of the College William L. Dill, senior grand deacon of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina, has enlisted three of the early graduates of the College; Larry Thompson, Ron Sortino, and Morty Jayson. Together these men are responsible for the ongoing activities. I was privileged to be with the class at their second session in Raleigh and again for their graduation weekend on the campus of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home at Greensboro. This was the largest class to date, and I am convinced the positive learning experience provided through Wilkerson College will be a source of leadership strength for our fraternity in the years to come.

Recommendations

I have no recommendations for specific legislation; however, I am concerned that we must be more committed to "Being Who We Say We Are" with attention to these specific areas:

1. Each of us has taken an obligation to support our widows and orphans, and our present level of giving to both the Masonic and Eastern Star Home at Greensboro and the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford is inadequate. We must increase our support of our charities.
2. We are all concerned about membership, but I am confident if we will live up to the moral standards to which we are obligated, good men will be attracted to us, and our membership issues will be of less concern.
3. The public perception of Freemasonry is vitally important to the future of our great fraternity, and I believe the recognition of Prince Hall Grand Lodge is necessary if we are to preserve our legacy for future generations.

Acknowledgments and Special Appreciation

I wish to express my appreciation to Past Grand Master Charles M. Ingram who appointed me grand steward and provided me the opportunity to serve the brethren of this grand jurisdiction in a way that I would have never dreamed possible. Brother Charles, you have been a true friend and brother, and I trust that I have not disappointed you.

To the past grand masters who have been a source of strength and support. I thank you for your encouraging words, wise counsel, and for being willing to serve and help me whenever you were called upon. It is indeed a privilege to be associated with such an outstanding group of Masons, and I am honored to be able to serve with you in our Masonic family.

To the Grand Lodge officers, I extend my deepest thanks for your cooperation throughout the year as we have worked together to promote the best interests of our great fraternity. Your friendship and willingness to do whatever was necessary to see the task complete means more to me than you will ever know. I pledge to you my support in the years ahead as you continue your Masonic journey.

To the district deputy grand masters and district deputy grand lecturers, again I thank you for your dedicated service to our lodges. Your spirit of cooperation and eagerness to perform any task you were assigned has made this year much easier.

To the members of the boards, commissions, and committees for the many hours that you have given in service to Freemasonry, the whole of our fraternity is indebted to you. Your devotion and attention to the operations of our Grand Lodge are most appreciated, and I thank you for a job well done.

To the officers of each lodge in this grand jurisdiction, it has been a pleasure to serve in the leadership of our fraternity with you during the year. I thank you for your support and the efforts you have made to promote Freemasonry in your local communities.

To the officers and members of my lodge, Mingo Lodge No. 206 in Dunn, thank you for your faithful and dedicated support throughout the years. Your hard work made the installation of the Grand Lodge officers, at Plain View School, a most special day and one that I will never forget. To Grand Tyler G. H. Wilson Jr., I appreciate your traveling with me this year.

To every Mason in North Carolina, once again, I thank you for the privilege and honor of allowing me to serve as your grand master. I have enjoyed every opportunity that I have had to fellowship with you, and through my association with you, my life has truly been enriched.

To Brother Grand Secretary T. Walton Clapp, Brother Ric Carter, assistant to the grand secretary, Cornelia Doherty, and Jennifer Stowe, you have all earned a special place in my heart. You have extended to me every courtesy imaginable, you have answered the phone regardless of the time of day or night, and you have always been so willing to help me. I owe you a great debt of gratitude in helping me to carry out the duties of this wonderful office.

I want to thank my father, Brother Eugene Jernigan, for the example that he set in our family which inspired me to become a Mason. My Masonic experience has been enriching, and I know without a doubt that it has helped make me a better man. I am thankful to have been reared in a Christian family. I want to thank Daddy and Mother for instilling in our family and me a strong sense of caring and love for one another. Daddy, it has been a great pleasure to have you travel with me during the year and to share in the experiences of this most memorable time in my life. Thinking of memorable experiences, I would be remiss if I failed to note one such event that occurred in University Lodge No. 408 in Chapel Hill on a very hot summer night in August of last year. It is a time of special pride for every father when his son becomes a Mason, and that was the case when Daddy and I had the personal pleasure of helping to raise my youngest son, Martin, to the sublime degree of Master Mason. Thanks to the brethren of University for allowing us that privilege.

I must pay special recognition to my best friend and wonderful wife, Charlla, who has always been a constant source of unwavering support. I can always count on her to help me get through the day. We have been blessed with two sons, a daughter (in law), and the greatest grandson, and the sweetest granddaughter ever. Trent, Kate, James, and Adelaide live in Winston-Salem, and Martin (the youngest Master Mason in the Jernigan family) lives in Chapel Hill. I must thank all of you for your patience and understanding. I am most fortunate to have such a supportive family.

Last, but certainly not least, I owe it all to the Supreme Architect of the Universe for the many blessings of life — for health and strength and for his abiding love. For it is by His goodness, mercy, and grace that we are sustained.

Respectfully submitted,
Gene T. Jernigan, Grand Master

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of North Carolina:

The following are the various orders that were issued during the terms of Grand Master Graham W. Pervier and Grand Master Gene T. Jernigan, to be considered during this Annual Communication.

Pervier Orders

There were no additional orders issued by Grand Master Graham W. Pervier.

Jernigan Opinions and Orders

Order No. 1

It has been brought to my attention by the Grand Secretary's office that Tabasco Lodge No. 271 elected JCM to receive the degrees at the stated communication held on February 7, 2006, and then conferred the Entered Apprentice degree on him at the same stated communication (February 7, 2006), which is in violation of Regulation 71-22 of The Code.

Since the candidate was not responsible for this violation of the law of our Grand Lodge, I hereby order:

1. That Tabasco Lodge No. 271 heal Entered Apprentice JCM at the first stated communication following receipt of this order, as provided in Regulation 87-6. It shall be sufficient only to re-obligate this candidate in the first degree, in a lodge opened on that degree, and after the candidate has been healed, he may be advanced when prepared as required in Regulation 72-2.
2. This order shall be read in the lodge at the first communication following its receipt, and it shall be made a part of the minutes of that meeting.
3. The lodge secretary shall report to the grand secretary within five days after healing of this candidate that this order has been complied with and the date thereof.

Given under my hand and seal at Dunn, North Carolina, this the 15th day of February, 2006.

The Committee recommended that the order be approved.

The delegates approved the order.

Order 2

It has come to my attention by the Grand Secretary's Office that Balfour Lodge No. 188 has allowed a candidate to possess a written copy of a non-conforming ritual (written catechism – not Grand Lodge of North Carolina, AF & AM). I have directed that an investigation be conducted by the district deputy grand master with assistance from the district deputy grand lecturer. Their investigation revealed the following:

1. The candidate did possess a written copy of a non-conforming ritual (written catechism), and an officer and members of Balfour Lodge No. 188 knew the candidate had the document.

2. A member of Balfour Lodge No. 188, whose identity has not yet been determined, provided the written document to the candidate.
3. Candidate proficiency is not being completed in the prescribed manner (i.e. proficiency was declared satisfactory after completion of obligation).
4. A member of Balfour Lodge No. 188 asserts that he had “no problem with it” (that is, the candidate having the written catechism) which I find very disturbing.

Now; therefore, I do herein order that Balfour Lodge No. 188 submit itself to 15 hours Lecture Service as prescribed by the Board of Custodians and further that the district deputy grand master or district deputy grand lecturer or their designee be in attendance at each stated and emergent communication of Balfour Lodge No. 188 for a period of six (6) months to insure strict adherence to the Rules and Regulations of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina AF & AM.

Given under my hand and seal at Dunn, North Carolina this the 6th day of June 2006.

The Committee recommended that the order be approved.

The delegates approved the order.

Order No. 3

It has been brought to my attention by the Grand Secretary's Office that Southern Pines Lodge No. 484 elected Mr. CCI Jr., and Mr. JOL to receive the degrees at the stated communication held on July 17, 2006, and then conferred the Entered Apprentice Degrees on them at the same stated communication (July 17, 2006), which is in violation of Regulation 71-22 of The Code.

Since the candidate was not responsible for this violation of the law of our Grand Lodge, I hereby order:

1. That Southern Pines Lodge No. 484 heal Entered Apprentices CCI Jr. and JOL at the first stated communication following receipt of this Order, as provided in Regulation 87-6. It shall be sufficient to only re-obligate these candidates in the first degree, in a lodge opened on that degree. After the candidates have been healed, they may then be advanced when prepared as required in Regulation 72-2.
2. This Order shall be read in the lodge at the first stated communication following its receipt, and it shall be made a part of the minutes of that meeting.
3. The lodge secretary shall report to the grand secretary within five days after the healing of this candidate that this Order has been complied with and the date thereof.

Given under my hand and seal at Dunn, North Carolina, this the 27th day of July, 2006.

The Committee recommended that the order be approved.

The delegates approved the order.

Official Opinion “Masonic Body”

Past Grand Master, William B. Brunk, a member of the board of directors of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home of North Carolina, Incorporated (MESH) and a member of the Ad Hoc Finance Review Committee for MESH has asked for an opinion relative to whether or not MESH is a “Masonic body” as it relates to Regulation 35.4 of The Code.

The inquiry is the result of action taken by the North Carolina Masonic Foundation, Incorporated (NCMF) at their regular meeting on December 13, 2005, when the Board of NCMF deferred action on previous action taken on September 13, 2005, when they adopted a resolution to guarantee an amount not to exceed $4,000,000 (four million dollars) of indebtedness of MESH to HSN NordBank AG for the purpose of developing plans and pre-selling congregate living units to replace existing units at MESH. The language of Regulation 35.4, of The Code which reads: "NO LOANS TO ANY MASONIC BODY. The funds of the North Carolina Masonic Foundation shall not be loaned directly or indirectly to any Masonic body," caused concern for members of the Board and was the justification given for wanting to withdraw their previous resolution of guaranty.

It is my opinion that the interpretation of Regulation 35.4 does not prohibit NCMF from serving as guarantor for MESH on several counts. First, by definition, a guaranty is not a loan; second, The Code is not specific in its definition of "Masonic body." However, in the Preamble, the term "Masonic body" is used in the context that "the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of North Carolina is an absolute sovereign Masonic body," suggesting that the interpretation of "body" is an organization duly recognized by the Grand Lodge, Sec. 6-1, and or other appendant organizations as specifically noted in Sec. 6-3.

The Grand Lodge of North Carolina recognizes MESH as a corporate charity. Regulation 21-5 of The Code reads, "CORPORATE CHARITIES. The Masonic Home for Children at Oxford, the Masonic and Eastern Star Home of North Carolina, Incorporated, and the North Carolina Masonic Foundation, Incorporated, are corporations under the laws of the State of North Carolina, and they shall be managed by their respective boards of directors according to their respective charters and bylaws." A review of the charter and bylaws of NCMF reveals in the charter that the objects for which said corporation is formed, are as follows: Paragraph 3-b reads "For assisting the Masonic and Eastern Star Home, located at Greensboro, N.C. as long as the Grand Lodge of North Carolina, AF & AM, shall sponsor said Home." Paragraph 4 reads "...and generally to do and perform every act and thing necessary, proper, and convenient to carry out fully the spirit and intent of the purposes expressed in this instrument of incorporation, and in any instrument under which it may receive gifts." The By-laws of NCMF, Article II, PURPOSES, Section 1. Principal Charities reads: "The principal charities of the Foundation to which it shall primarily devote its resources are the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford, Inc. (MHCO), The Masonic and Eastern Star Home of North Carolina, Inc. (MESH) and the charities they establish and support." Inasmuch as the charitable support of MHCO and MESH are the express purposes for which NCMF was formed, it is my opinion that the guaranty is clearly within the intent for which NCMF was chartered and formed.

Given under my hand and seal at Dunn, North Carolina, this the 2nd day of January, 2006.

The Committee recommended that the opinion be approved.

The delegates approved the opinion.

Amendment Group 1

The following amendment has been proposed by the Board of Custodians.

This amendment would allow the Board of Custodians to set the period between examinations of certified lecturers.

REG. 29-7 CLASSES OF LECTURERS.

The Board of Custodians is authorized, in its discretion:

5. To issue certificates for each grade or class for the period of time which it shall establish. ~~but not to exceed five years. The Perception of Freemasonry

The following presentation was prepared by Daniel P. Weatherington of the Committee on Masonic Education and Wilson Lodge No. 712. The paper was presented to the, by Grand Master Gene T. Jernigan.

Good day, Brothers,

To begin, I would like to pose a question, actually three questions.

First, let me ask you your opinion about the French tsunami?

Next, what do you really think about the town of Narwall Belgium?

Last, what are your thoughts and opinions of the group Opus Dei?

Really don't know what to think? Really don't have an opinion?

The reason you don't have an opinion is because I am asking you about an event that never happened, a place that doesn't exist, and a group that you might have heard of, but probably know almost nothing about. It would be hard, if not impossible, for you to have an opinion on these things. Yet, we sometimes find it hard to believe when most people don't seem to know anything about the Masons.

Later today you're probably going to call home or back to your office and be told that someone needs to speak with you about some form of Masonic business. Soon after, you will call the brother and try to help however you can. You will give the matter little notice. You are a Mason. Masonry is a part of your life. Helping the brother is just business as usual.

Sometime in the next few days you are likely to attend your lodge. You will give the event little notice. Again, you are a Mason. Masonry is a part of your life. Again, it's just business as usual.

Some of you may remember Past Grand Master Jimmy Brewer from North Carolina. He was a small gentleman, but full of life. Some would say almost hyper. His was a simple philosophy: Like you, Masonry was his life.

With rare exception, his friends were Masons, the people he did business with were Masons and probably most of the male members of his family were Masons

When he called his attorney for advice, his attorney was a Mason.

When he visited the doctor, his doctor was a Mason.

On Sunday he listened to his pastor, again, a Mason.

The same was the case with his butcher, his mechanic, and almost anyone with whom he associated. Jimmy enjoyed associating with Masons, and he was not the least bit shy about his pride in Masonry. About the third time he told a businessman or a friend he believed they would make a good Mason, they got the hint. Before long, most would break and ask Jimmy something about the Masons. That was all he needed. It wouldn't be too long before the man would become North Carolina's newest Mason and Jimmy's circle of dealing mostly with Masons continued unbroken.

Maybe we don't all go to the extreme Jimmy Brewer did, but most of us here do make an attempt to be mostly around Masons. This is normal. Why shouldn't we? We know who Masons are and more importantly, WHAT Masons are. We know our perception of Masons. We like it. But, for a moment, let's step away from OUR perception of Masonry and look at the vast majority of America.

A 1988 study by the Masonic Renewal Task Force indicated that less than ten percent of middle-class American males had ever even heard Masonry. A like number had heard of the Masons but didn't actually know what they were.

More people have heard of us today than in 1988 because of exposure in movies like National Treasure and the book and subsequent movie The Da Vinci Code.

In North Carolina this exposure has caused an increase in inquiries and petitions. This is good? Right?

For a moment, let's look at this increase in interest in the Masons and Freemasonry.

When a man sees something in a book or a movie about Freemasonry and it makes him interested enough to ask about the Masons, where would he ask?

If he already knows a Mason, he probably already has a hint about the fraternity based on the actions of that Mason. But, most likely, if the 1988 study is accurate, he doesn't know a Mason — so where would he ask?

We would hope he would find a good, knowledgeable, Mason and ask his questions, but it just doesn't work that way. When people seek information they ask in the places that are most comfortable to them. This is usually a friend or relative. When they pose the question, "What do you know about the Masons?" any number or responses can come forth. It totally depends on whom they ask.

They may ask Aunt Gladys. She claims to know all about Masonry.

She learned about the Masons from her preacher. The response here can run anywhere from “good civic minded men” to “satanic devils.” The preacher himself may be a Mason, or he may be the kind of preacher who will give Aunt Gladys a “Chick Tract” describing in detail our sinful ways. We have no control over how Aunt Gladys will respond. And, in truth, the number of people who view us as “satanic devils” are so few as to really not merit mention.

Our interested friend may ask his grandmother. She remembers the Masons well. She remembers the Masons as being some of the most respected people in town. They didn’t say much about their Masonry, but when there was a need in the community, they were usually the ringleaders who stepped in and made sure that need was met. She thinks her father and two of her brothers were Masons, but they never spoke about it. So, all she can really say is she knows they’re good men, but doesn’t know any more.

It’s unlikely our friend would ask anyone at a grand lodge. He wouldn’t know what a grand lodge is.

He may try to inquire at a local lodge, but chances are good if it’s not a meeting night, no one will be there to answer his questions.

We would hope our friend would find a knowledgeable Mason and ask about the fraternity. And, though this may appear to be the best route for all concerned, it may not be. Not that finding a Mason would be difficult. It shouldn’t be. If he asks enough people someone, somewhere, is going to know a Mason. But finding a knowledgeable Mason may be considerably more difficult.

Gentlemen, lets be honest. Too many of our brothers are far from what could be considered “knowledgeable.” Many entered the fraternity with hopes of finding little more than a social club. They never really spent the time, or exerted the effort to learn what Masonry was all about. Most today don’t even attend their lodge with any form of regularity, and many haven’t been since the night they were raised. How can these men be expected to give our interested friend any answer of substance?

Pat answers like “Masonry makes good men better” and the “world’s largest fraternity” doesn’t really describe our goals or tell what we are. Going on and on about our charities may impress ourselves, but all but the weakest minded man knows you don’t have to join the organization to give money.

Instead, we have contrived an answer that any Mason who can’t answer a question can use. That contrivance is “I can’t tell you. It’s a secret.” Not only is this response overused. Invariably, it’s almost always used at the wrong time.

The person inquiring about Masonry doesn't care about our modes of recognition or our ritual. He has no reason to know we even have them, much less any concern about what they are. The man who is asking about Masonry wants to know what Masonry can offer him, and answers to these questions are not secrets in any shape or form.

If we say, "You would be joining an organization that some of the greatest men in history have joined," doesn't divulge anything secret. Saying, "You would be joining a group that boasts some of the finest men in the community," doesn't violate any oaths. This man doesn't want to know about handshakes or passwords. At this point, those things are meaningless to him. Nothing that can be said at this point and make any sense can be contrived as any form of "secret of Masonry."

Too many of our brothers never took the time to learn exactly what are the "secrets of Masonry." Rather than say something they shouldn't say, they just say everything is a secret. Is this good or does it do our organization a vast disservice?

The subject at hand is perception. Let me pose another question: what would be your impression of an organization that frowned on allowing its members to even tell their wives they are a member? Throughout Masonic history, husbands have been reluctant to tell their wives they are a Mason. What would be your impression of an organization in which the members wouldn't admit their membership to their children? How many times have you heard a man say "I didn't even know my father was a Mason."

All this "secrecy" may fit well into the scope of the CIA or the KGB, but isn't it an exaggeration for a society of good men? The religious zealots and anti-Masons have used this "secrecy" to try to paint us as having something to hide.

Isn't it time we start answering questions with real answers. At no time in our history, at no time in the present, have we done anything we should be ashamed to admit to.

What is our purpose? Why should a man want to become a Mason? Could it be just to associate with men that are a step better than the average in the community? What is wrong with that? Are our members not at least a step better than the average?

Could a man want to join to learn leadership skills you can't get out of a book? Would a man maybe join to associate himself with people who have a desire for a better world?

Would these things present a better perception than our overused phrases and constantly repeating how it "used" to be?

The day we move our perception from "the way it used to be" to the way it is and will be, all the negative trends will reverse. Maybe we need to stop being so anxious to speak about George Washington and Harry Truman and start talking about that “good man who is in the grand line in your state today and accomplishing so much.”

Annual Communication

Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Address of District Grand Master Levonne Edgar Moxey, District Grand Lodge of the Bahamas Scottish Constitution

Most Worshipful Grand Master, Worshipful Past Grand Masters, Worshipful Masters, Distinguished Brethren, Brethren All:

It has been a long day, and as Henry VIII promised one of his many wives, “I shan’t keep you very long.”

It is a deep honor and a profound privilege for me and my deputation and visitors from all over the United States to have been so warmly received in this Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of North Carolina.

I am particularly touched by the warm sentiments of welcome expressed by Brother Gene Jernigan, the most worshipful grand master. We have enjoyed every moment of our stay here in Winston-Salem in the great state of North Carolina, and we thank you and the Brethren for the hospitality and cordial exchanges that we have so far enjoyed.

I wish as well, Most Worshipful Grand Master, to bring warm fraternal greeting from the District Grand Lodge of The Bahamas, and to convey the warm sentiments of all of the Brethren in our various daughter lodges in The Bahamas situated on three of our islands, Freeport in Grand Bahama, New Providence, and Eleuthera. I know that I speak on their behalf when I extend a very warm invitation to members of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina and the other Grand Lodges represented, to avail yourself of any opportunity to visit our Lodges, not only in a formal capacity, but, at any time when you might be visiting or traveling through our beautiful country. I assure you of a very warm welcome and of the gracious hospitality for which Bahamians are renowned.

Most Worshipful Grand Master:

I am very mindful of the historical significance of our visit and how it under-girds one of the principle tenets of Freemasonry which is “Brotherly love, relief, and truth.” This occasion is a poignant reminder of how far we have come, not only in terms of our acceptance of each other, but how far we have come in our appreciation that there are other sublime forces at work that transcend race, color, class, religion, and creeds.

As painful as it is to recall, I would wish to mention to this assembly an incident involving myself as a visitor to one of the daughter lodges in the Grand Lodge of North Carolina. In 1994, at a time when I was the reigning master of Lodge St. Michael No. 1634 and while on a visit to North Carolina, I visited Wendell Lodge No. 563 in Wendell, North Carolina. It was my hope to be admitted as a visitor. On that particular evening, White Stone Lodge No. 155 was doing the degree work at Wendell Lodge. Regrettably, White Stone Lodge was not prepared to work the Degree in the presence of a Black man, and I was denied entry into the Wendell Lodge, a lodge that I had previously visited without incident.

It is worth noting that this incident must have created quite a stir, and a few days later I received a letter from Brother John McClelland Jr., then secretary of Wendell Lodge, in which he proffered his personal apology over the incident. It was later drawn to my attention that during that same meeting of 11 October, 1994, Brother Joseph Transou, past master of Hiram Lodge No. 40 of Raleigh, in an address to Wendell Lodge said, and I quote:

“While these teachings and tenets are forever taught, they are not necessarily understood. At times they become words without meaning which ring hollow in Masons who hear but are deaf. In your Masonic journey I pray you never have cause to tell a Brother, most especially one from another country, that even though ‘we are taught to regard the whole human species... as one family... and...Masonry unites men of every country...’ that he is not welcome in lodge due to the color of his skin; a duty which was performed today. We are taught ‘the internal, and not the external qualifications of a man, are what Masonry regards.’ Many hear and understand this teaching tonight, but a few are deaf.”

The incident, while personally offensive to me, was one I would rather forget. But much to the credit of Freemasonry in North Carolina, it was mentioned as a seminal event with regard to racial attitudes of some in Freemasonry. In fact, it was the subject of an article in the Masonic journal, The North Carolina Mason, published in August 1997, almost some three years after the incident. “Down but not out, out but not down, for the stone which the builder rejected, the stone which was heaved over into the rubbish, has become the Corner Stone.”

Most Worshipful Grand Master,

It is commendable how far we have come in our attitude to one another. In reaching to this point, much credit must go to your lodges, but in particular to each and every Freemason, because through your acceptance of diversity you are truly living out one of the most fundamental truths of our ancient and noble order.

Most Worshipful Grand Master and Brethren All:

We hope that our visit this evening will serve to further cement the warm relationship between the Grand Lodge of North Carolina and the District Grand Lodge of The Bahamas as well as the other Masonic groupings, not only in The Bahamas, but throughout the Americas. The northernmost point of our archipelago of The Bahamas is not more than 600 or so miles from Nags Head, North Carolina. The same ocean waves that beat against the shores of North Carolina flow southerly through our islands and cays, and the winds from the Carolinas make their presence felt throughout The Bahamas. In short, Brethren, we are kin and we have a kindred spirit.

Let us, therefore, nurture this relationship, as I firmly believe that in the true spirit of mutual trust and mutual sharing and mutual understanding there is much that we can learn from each other.

Most Worshipful Grand Master:

Once again, on behalf of my deputation, and that of all the various distinguished visitors and in my own personal capacity, I wish to thank you and all the members of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina for the warmth and dignity in which you have received us and for your forbearance in allowing me to make this most humble address.

Thank you.
